HIGH AND RIGID PRICE PROPS GIVEN NOD

Science Exhibits Set Up By 37 Students Here On Competitive Basis

From protozoa and the study of insoluble precipitates to the F-24 Sky-Hawk airplane — that is the range of junior and senior high school student science exhibits to be judged Wednesday in the Fayette County portion of the Science Awards competition.

A total of 37 science students from schools throughout Fayette County have completed and registered projects in the first step of a new four-county, two city contest.

The exhibits were to be set up at the Dayton Power & Light Co. auditorium here Tuesday for judging and viewing by the public Wednesday. The exhibit will be open to visitors Wednesday evening.

The 16 students from Washington C. H. High School and 21 from county schools who have entered exhibits are competing on a county level for prizes ranging from a $25 cash bond to technical books.

Winners here will have a chance to compete on a district level with students from Butler, Clinton and Warren Counties with higher prizes involved.

The third step is the regional competition, including greater Cincinnati and greater Dayton. Top winners on the regional level will receive scholarships worth $2,000, $1,000 and $500 in the top three places in each of four categories in the senior division.

THE CONTEST split into junior and senior divisions. Prizes will be awarded in the junior division for exhibits in, the general science area.

In the senior division the entries

3 Women Injured
In Synagogue

NEW YORK (AP)—The ceiling of a Bronx synagogue collapsed during a Passover service today, injuring three women worshippers.
Two were reported in critical condition.

All three women were seated in the balcony. Some 30 other persons in the congregation escaped injury despite the rain of debris.

Cantor Max Wiesen was leading the congregation in prayer commemorating the exodus of Jews from Egyptian bondage more than 3,000 years ago when a 20 by 30 foot section of the ceiling crashed down.

The synagogue is the Yeshiva and Mesivta Zichron Moshe.

Turtles Clog Up
City Water Pipes

OKEECHOBEE, Fla. (AP)—Log gerhead turtles clogged pipes bringing water from the Okeechobee Lake into town Monday.

While pumps were temporarily shut down for new pipe installations, the turtles crawled into the system and acted like so many stoppers. Crews worked all night to get the pipes cleared and water flowing again.

A "letter to the editor" has just come into the office and was about to be tossed into the waste basket because the writer had neglected to sign it.

I rescued it because I thought the youthful writer, a junior in Washington C. H. High School, might not have known that unsigned letters are not published in the Record-Herald.

If the "Pleading Junior," who wrote the letter will come into the office and sign it, it will be printed.

It was such an earnest plea for "a very worthy cause—education" that it seems too bad that it should wind up in the waste basket merely through a misunderstanding of the

Editor's Appeal Hearing Slated

Tribunal Scheduled
In Gallipolis Tomorrow

GALLIPOLIS (AP)—Hearing on the appeal of Vic Sherow, Gallipolis Tribune editor, from his conviction on a charge of contempt of court, will be held before the Fourth District Court of Appeals here tomorrow afternoon.

The hearing will be held in a special session of the court sitting in Gallia courthouse.

Henry W. Cherrington will argue the case for the editor, and Warren F. Sheets, county prosecutor, will appear for the state.

The appeal was filed after Sher-ow was found guilty Feb. 7 by Gallia County Juvenile Judge John W. Howell on the contempt citation growing out of publication in the Tribune on Feb. 1 the names, ages, addresses and parents' names of five juveniles sentenced to the Boys Industrial School for vandalism.

Judge Howell fined Sherow $200, but suspended imposition of sentence pending the appeal.

THE JUDGE had cited Sherow for contempt for ignoring a court order that the names of the juveniles not be made public.

Charles Butler, Tribune reporter also cited for contempt, was freed of the charge after he testified he had passed along the judge's request to the editor and that the names of the five youths had been inserted by the editor in a story Butler had written.

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP)—Three boys found $1,800 in a treasure

$50 and $100 Confederate bills.

Ike Due To Tell U. S. Policy
To Mexico, Canada Chiefs

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS,
W. Va. (AP)—Canadian and Mexican leaders looked to President Eisenhower today for a full exposition of U. S. world policies, including a discussion of the war-threatened Middle East.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles were understood to have prepared such a report for the only scheduled business session of the good neighbor conference which opened here last night.

Eisenhower took part in the informal round of talks apparently not aware that three persons were stricken last week after drinking ginger ale aboard the private railroad car in which he traveled from Washington to White Sulphur Springs Sunday night.

Both the U. S. Secret Service, which guards the President, and the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad were investigating the affair.

"We don't think there has been any plot aimed at the President," said Secret Service Chief U. E.
Baughman, "but we do want to find out all there is to know about the situation."

ASIDE FROM today's business session, the conference schedule included a luncheon meeting and a closing dinner tonight with Eisenhower playing host to Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and Mexican President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines.

The North American Big Three opened their unprecedented meeting with a dinner last night. Ruiz Cortines sat on the President's

Senate Vote Near On Electoral Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate
plans to vote today on proposals to change the method of electing presidents and vice presidents. Opponents voiced confidence all versions would be beaten.

The principal plan is a two-part compromise which originally had 54 Senate sponsors. Some have since withdrawn support.

This led Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.)
a leading opponent, to predict it would be defeated along with any variations which are offered.

To be adopted, a constitutional amendment must be approved by two thirds of those voting in the Senate and House, and must be ratified by three fourths of the states.

These are the alternatives under the compromise proposal:
1. A state's electoral vote could be divided among presidential candidates in proportion to the popular vote they received, or

2. A STATE could choose its electors as it selects its senators and representatives in Congress—two on a statewide basis and the others by congressional districts.

Proponents of the two-part proposal argue that the present system is unfair because any candidate who wins a popular vote plurality in a state takes all of the state's electoral votes. Other candidates get no electoral vote credit for the popular votes cast for them in those states. Under the system now in use a presidential candidate can win a majority of electoral votes while losing a majority of popular votes on a nationwide basis.

Opposition to the proposed change has come mostly from senators representing large states. They contend the new plan would give more weight to one-party states and to rural areas which they argue already have excessive political influence.

Legislation providing for the proportionate system alone was passed by the Senate in 1950, but was beaten in the House.

Kennedy said he would offer a plan to make changes in the way the vote for president is handled, if the other more far-reaching amendments are defeated.

The Kennedy plan would not alter the impact of the present voting system. However, it would abolish the Electoral College as such. Each state's electoral votes merely would be transmitted to Washington.

It also would provide that if any candidate should fail to receive a majority of electoral votes, the election would be decided at a joint session of Congress.

'Mr. Trotting'
Dies At Age 81

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—William H. Cane, 81-year-old head of the Yonkers, N. Y., raceway and promoter of the famous Hambletonian race, died at 9:25 a. m. today in St. Francis Hospital here.

Cane entered the hospital March 13 with a heart and kidney condition.

For a quarter of a century Cane was known affectionately as "Mr.
Trotting," and he built up the Hambletonian from a failure at Lexington, Ky., and Syracuse, N. Y., to become the world's most famous trotting race.

Cane took over the sulky derby in 1930, and it is held at his Good Time Park, Goshen, N. Y.

Political Tempo Picking Up In Ohio as Primary Nearing

(By The Associated Press)
With the Ohio primary only six weeks away the campaign tempo is beginning to pick up.

In Medina, Lt. Gov. John W.
Brown, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor told a group of hometown friends that political issues demanding immediate action can be solved only by a "person of courage who is willing to serve all the people of Ohio."

The former Medina mayor also recommended establishment of a little Hoover commission to "streamline and modernize the state government."

In referring to his primary contest with Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill, Brown said:
"This is a fight where they don't pay any money for second place. You are either in or you're out."

In Washington, Michael V. Di-Salle said that if an election were held tomorrow Eisenhower would lose Ohio.

DiSalle, who seeks the Democratic nomination for governor, based his prediction on what he termed considerable dissatisfaction with the Eisenhower administration among farmers.

DiSalle also predicted that Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche would pile up a 100,000 vote victory over Sen. George Bender (R-Ohio) in their race for the latter's Senate seat.

The former Toledo mayor made his remarks to newsmen attending a luncheon in his honor given by Rep. Ashley (D-Ohio).

Meanwhile, the Cleveland
Plain Dealer gave its editorial endorsement to DiSalle. The newspaper said DiSalle led the list of five Democratic primary candidates "in degree of public experience and acquaintance with the state."

Bender received an offer of campaign assistance from Sen.
Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) at the end of an argument on the Senate floor.

Said McCarthy, who was disputing Bender's position that sometimes we can't do much to stop an ally who wants to sell to Russia: "I still think his (Bender's) record is good enough to lead me to come to Ohio and campaign for him, if he thought it would help."

Bender replied, "I appreciate the senator's kindness."

In Portsmouth, Robert W.
Reider, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, urged a labor audience to wage
"a victorious fight for the restoration of the two-party system."

Speaking to the Building Construction Trades Council, Reider

Herman Field Back In U. S.
After Being Polish Prisoner

NEW YORK (AP)—Hermann Field, former Cleveland architect who spent five years as a Polish Queen Mary today after an absence of nearly seven years.

He said that his brother, Noel, another principal in the long mystery of the "disappearing Fields," is a "pretty slick man" in Budapest, Hungary.

When asked whether Noel still is a prisoner, Field replied "That's anybody's guess." He said he writes to his brother occasionally to "keep the lines open."

Field, 46, was accompanied by his London-born wife, Kate, and two sons, Hugh, 12, and Allen, 10.

Noel Field, a former U. S. State Department official, and his wife dropped out of sight in May 1949 Hermann was arrested three months later in Poland while searching for his brother.

The Poles released Hermann in October 1954, after, he said, he spent five years in a cellar as a prisoner of the Polish security police. Noel and his wife, Herta, were freed by the Hungarians a month later, but they decided to stay in Hungary and requested political asylum.

Hermann Field received $50,000 from the Polish government as compensation for his imprisonment, and $1,500 more for medical treatment during convalescence after his release.

"I was never officially charged with anything," said Field, Swiss-born of American parents and a one-time architectural planner for Western Reserve University.

"The more they investigated, the less they found out," he said of Polish officials. He said the State Department, urged by his wife and a sister, Dr. Elsie Doob, a physician of Urbana, Ill., protested that the "Poles claimed they knew nothing about me."

He said the mystery of his whereabouts finally was uncovered when a Polish colonel named Swiatlo defected and informed U. S. authorities he had been instrumental in kidnapping Field.

said that if the effort was unsuccessful Ohio "is doomed to the status of an industrial slave state for years to come."

Reider called for a "dynamic" state-sponsored industrial expansion program, an overhauling of the state compensation laws, and a more "liberalized" aid to the aged program.

In Lancaster, William Cody
Kelly, candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, urged that the post be given a more important role to play in Ohio government.

In addressing a meeting of the Fairfield County Women's Republican Club, Kelly said:

"The lieutenant governor should be more than a mere presiding officer of the Senate. Vice President Richard Nixon has shown how valuable the vice president can be to the chief executive. In Ohio, the No. 2 state official can and should take a lot of the burden of semi-official duties off the shoulders of the governor."

nomination, but the spokesman said the governor denied using the word "available."

McKinney said he had presided at a March 4 meeting in Denver, at which people from some 14 states were represented.

"IT WAS a conference solely in the interests of Gov. Harriman," McKinney said. "Now, there has been talk in the papers that this was somewhat tied up with stopping Stevenson in Minnesota. That is not true."

McKinney said also that Truman, a personal friend, asked him several weeks ago to "spike any movement for me for President."
He quoted Truman as saying he would not be a candidate under any circumstances.

In Washington, Symington said,
"I am not a candidate," and expressed himself as "humbly grateful for the confidence expressed in me" by the Missouri Democratic Committee.

Neither is now an active candidate. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who is, followed a slightly less strenuous campaign trail yesterday in California, where he is campaigning for votes in the June 5 primary.

HE WILL CLASH there with the other currently active candidate, Adlai Stevenson, the party's unsuccessful standard bearer in 1952.
Kefauver won their first direct test, in Minnesota a week ago.

The boost for Symington, a Missourian, came in the form of an endorsement by that state's Democratic committee. Adopted unanimously, the resolution made no reference to Symington as a "favorite son." The resolution is subject to approval by the Democratic state convention.

Harriman, governor of New York, was boomed by Frank E.
McKinney of Indianapolis, a former chairman of the Democratic National Committee during the Truman administration.

"If and when he announces," McKinney said, "he will find that he has quite a militant group backing him in the states west of the Alleghenies."

Harriman, vacationing at Hobe Sound, Fla., declined comment.
An aide to the New York governor said at Albany there has been no change in Harriman's status as a "not active" candidate. Harriman had been quoted Saturday as saying he is "available" for the two sons, Hugh, 12, and Allen, 10.

House-Senate Group Also OKs
'Dual Parity'

Congress Conference Goes Against Program
By Eisenhower, Benson

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate-House conference committee agreed today on a one-year extension of high, rigid mandatory price supports on basic crops.

The group also accepted a "dual parity" method for using the higher of two price support formulas.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said these two price boosting provisions were agreed upon as part of the controversial election-year farm bill being worked out by a Senate-House compromise group.

Both of these provisions have been publicly opposed by both President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson. The House had voted the rigid support at 90 per cent of parity last year.

The Senate conferees accepted that figure today.

Ellender reported that the conferees also agreed to "knock out all limits" on total price support and soil bank payments. Top limits on such payments had been put in by the Senate.

He predicted that the group later would approve formally the $1.2 billion in annual soil bank payments asked by the administration to bolster sagging farm income.

THE CONFERENCE action came on the heels of a message from Secretary of Agriculture Benson saying each day's delay in congressional enactment of the soil bank program is costing farmers "badly needed income."

Both branches of Congress are to begin a 10-day Easter recess when they adjourn Thursday.

Both Ellender and Rep. Cooley (D-NC), his House counterpart, said they believe the Senate and House will act finally on Thursday if a compromise measure is ready by then. Cooley appeared somewhat less optimistic about finishing the bill tomorrow.

Cooley predicted the compromise version would include a one-year program of price support at a mandatory 90 per cent of parity for wheat, cotton, corn, rice and peanuts. Parity is a standard fixed by law and said to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

The Eisenhower administration strongly supports a flexible system in which price supports on these basic crops vary with the size of stocks on hand. Such a system was enacted in 1954. The House bill would scrap it. The Senate version would retain the theory of flexibility, while adding features to restrict it.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), senior GOP senator on the conference group, said he expects the compromise to include 90 per cent supports "for one year or more."

UNDER THE SOIL bank, farmers would be paid to hold some of their land out of production until present farm surpluses are reduced. The House bill, based on a return to high-level fixed price supports for basic crops, contains no such plan, but the House is expected to accept the idea.

Benson had been invited to appear before the House committee today but Cooley canceled the invitation, saying he did not wish to give the secretary opportunity to use the committee as a forum for additional "missionary work."

The House committee is sharply at odds with Benson over his insistence that the flexible price support system be continued.

Conceding Cooley's right to cancel his appearance before the committee, Benson sent copies of his statement to the group.

Benson denied, as some congressmen have argued, that the administration already has authority to set up the soil bank.

"This has been carefully reviewed by our legal staff and the answer is that there are definite legal reasons for the necessity of new legislation. In order that there may be no misunderstanding, I wish to make clear that if Congress had provided the authority this soil bank program would be in operation right now."

'Culture' Offered

CAIRO (AP)—Egyptian dances
Hurriya Mohamed agreed today to teach a visiting Chinese ballet troupe belly dancing. The Chinese troupe forms part of a cultural mission now visiting Egypt.

He Gets Out Of Jail, But Wife Remains

STUEBENVILLE (AP)—Mrs. May Buck, 51, remained in jail today because her fine of $100 and costs was unpaid, but her husband Raymond, 41, paid his two fines and went home.

The woman landed in jail because a state highway patrolman went back to find out why he heard a shot as the husband was being taken to court.

The incident was at the Buck home yesterday. The husband was arrested in connection with a traffic accident. As the patrol car pulled down the lane, a trooper heard a shot. No one was hit.

After the man had been jailed, the patrolman went back and questioned the wife. She admitted firing a rifle, but said it was pointed "in the other direction." She was arrested, too.

In municipal court, Buck was fined $50 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident, and $25 and costs for driving to the left of the

Science Exhibits Set Up By 37 Students Here On Competitive Basis

From protozoa and the study of insoluble precipitates to the F-24 Sky-Hawk airplane—that is the range of junior and senior high school student science exhibits to be judged Wednesday in the Fayette County portion of the Science Awards competition.

A total of 37 science students from schools throughout Fayette County have completed and registered projects in the first step of a new four-county, two city contest.

The exhibits were to be set up at the Dayton Power & Light Co. auditorium here Tuesday for judging and viewing by the public Wednesday. The exhibit will be open to visitors Wednesday evening.

The 16 students from Washington C. H. High School and 21 from county schools who have entered exhibits are competing on a county level for prizes ranging from a $25 cash bond to technical books.

Winners here will have a chance to compete on a district level with students from Butler, Clinton and Warren Counties with higher prizes involved.

The third step is the regional competition, including greater Cincinnati and greater Dayton. Top winners on the regional level will receive scholarships worth $2,000, $1,000 and $500 in the top three places in each of four categories in the senior division.

THE CONTEST split into junior and senior divisions. Prizes will be awarded in the junior division for exhibits in, the general science area.

Tribunal Scheduled In Gallipolis Tomorrow

GALLIPOLIS (P)—Hearing on the appeal of Vic Sherow, Gallipolis Tribune editor, from his conviction on a charge of contempt of court, will be held before the Fourth District Court of Appeals here tomorrow afternoon.

The hearing will be held in a special session of the court sitting in Gallia courthouse.

Henry W. Cherrington will argue the case for the editor, and Warren F. Sheets, county prosecutor, will appear for the state.

The appeal was filed after Sherow was found guilty Feb. 7 by Gallia County Juvenile Judge John W. Howell on the contempt citation growing out of publication in the Tribune on Feb. 1 the names, ages, addresses and parents' names of five juveniles sentenced to the Boys Industrial School for vandalism.

Judge Howell fined Sherow $200, but suspended imposition of sentence pending the appeal.

3 Women Injured In Synagogue

NEW YORK (P)—The ceiling of a Bronx synagogue collapsed during a Passover service today, injuring three women worshippers. Two were reported in critical condition.

All three women were seated in the balcony. Some 30 other persons in the congregation escaped injury despite the rain of debris.

Cantor Max Wiesen was leading the congregation in prayer commemorating the exodus of Jews from Egyptian bondage more than 3,000 years ago when a 20 by 30 foot section of the ceiling crashed down.

The synagogue is the Yeshiva and Mesivta Zichron Moshe.

Turtles Clog Up City Water Pipes

OKEECHOBEE, Fla. (P)—Log herhead turtles clogged pipes bringing water from the Okeechobee Lake into town Monday.

While pumps were temporarily shut down for new pipe installations, the turtles crawled into the system and acted like so many stoppers. Crews worked all night to get the pipes cleared and water flowing again.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

A "letter to the editor" has just come into the office and was about to be tossed into the waste basket because the writer had neglected to sign it.

I rescued it because I thought the youthful writer, a junior in Washington C. H. High School, might not have known that unsigned letters are not published in the Record-Herald.

If the "Pleading Junior," who wrote the letter will come into the office and sign it, it will be printed.

It was such an earnest plea for "a very worthy cause—education" that it seems too bad that it should wind up in the waste basket merely through a misunderstanding of the Record-Herald rules.

The writer (it's hard to tell whether it's a boy or a girl) says "I live in the Miami Trace School District, which means that if something isn't done fast, I won't be able to finish my education in Washington C. H. High School. . . I love that high school."

The letter points out that "the children will . . . suffer and yet they have no voice in the matter."

The letter concludes with a big P. L. E. A. S. E. in capital letters.

So if the "Pleading Junior" will come into the office and sign the letter within the next three days, it will be printed.

Senate Vote Near On Electoral Plan

WASHINGTON (P)—The Senate plans to vote today on proposals to change the method of electing presidents and vice presidents. Opponents voiced confidence all versions would be beaten.

The principal plan is a two-part compromise which originally had 54 Senate sponsors. Some have since withdrawn support.

This led Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) a leading opponent, to predict it would be defeated along with any variations which are offered.

To be adopted, a constitutional amendment must be approved by two thirds of those voting in the Senate and House, and must be ratified by three fourths of the states.

These are the alternatives under the compromise proposal:

1. A state's electoral vote could be divided among presidential candidates in proportion to the popular vote they received, or
2. A STATE could choose its electors as it selects its senators and representatives in Congress—two on a statewide basis and the others by congressional districts.

Proponents of the two-part proposal argue that the present system is unfair because any candidate who wins a popular vote plurality in a state takes all of the state's electoral votes. Other candidates get no electoral vote credit for the popular votes cast for them in those states. Under the system now in use a presidential

Ike Due To Tell U. S. Policy To Mexico, Canada Chiefs

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (P)—Canadian and Mexican leaders looked to President Eisenhower today for a full exposition of U. S. world policies, including a discussion of the war-threatened Middle East.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles were understood to have prepared such a report for the only scheduled business session of the good neighbor conference which opened here last night.

Eisenhower took part in the informal round of talks apparently not aware that three persons were stricken last week after drinking ginger ale aboard the private railroad car in which he traveled from Washington to White Sulphur Springs Sunday night.

Both the U. S. Secret Service, which guards the President, and the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad were investigating the affair.

"We don't think there has been any plot aimed at the President," said Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman, "but we do want to find out all there is to know about the situation."

ASIDE FROM today's business session, the conference schedule included a luncheon meeting and a closing dinner tonight with Eisenhower playing host to Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and Mexican President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines.

The North American Big Three opened their unprecedented meeting with a dinner last night. Ruiz Cortines sat on the President's right; St. Laurent, at his left.

Less Woodland in Fayette County Than in Any Other County in Ohio

According to Ohio Forest Facts published by the Ohio Forest Industries Committee, Fayette County has the smallest acreage of timber lands of any county in Ohio.

With a total of 260,000 acres of land, the county is listed as having only 10,000 acres of forest, or 4 percent of the total acreage of land in the county.

The total acreage in Ohio is 26,240,000, of which 5,446,000 is timberland, or 21 percent average for all the counties in the state.

Vinton County leads all others in amount of forest lands, with 179,000 acres or 68 percent of the total acreage in the county.

Neighboring counties to Fayette are listed as:

Madison, 297,000 acres of land, with 17,000 acres of woodland.

Pickaway, 324,000 acres of land and 14,000 acres of woodland.

Ross has 440,000 acres of which 165,000 acres are woodland.

Highland with 355,000 acres has 59,000 acres of woodland or 17 percent of the total acreage.

Clinton County has 264,000 acres

Political Tempo Picking Up In Ohio as Primary Nearing

(By The Associated Press)

With the Ohio primary only six weeks away the campaign tempo is beginning to pick up.

In Medina, Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor told a group of hometown friends that political issues demanding immediate action can be solved only by a "person of courage who is willing to serve all the people of Ohio."

The former Medina mayor also recommended establishment of a little Hoover Commission to "streamline and modernize the state government."

In referring to his primary contest with Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill, Brown said:

"This is a fight where they don't pay any money for second place. You are either in or you're out."

In Washington, Michael V. DiSalle said that if an election were held tomorrow Eisenhower would lose Ohio.

DiSalle, who seeks the Democratic nomination for governor, based his prediction on what he termed considerable dissatisfaction with the Eisenhower administration among farmers.

DiSalle also predicted that Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche would pile up a 100,000 vote victory over Sen. George Bender (R-Ohio) in their race for the latter's Senate seat.

The former Toledo mayor made his remarks to newsmen attending a luncheon in his honor given by Rep. Ashley (D-Ohio).

Meanwhile, the Cleveland Plain Dealer gave its editorial endorsement to DiSalle. The newspaper said DiSalle led the list of five Democratic primary candidates "in degree of public experience and acquaintance within the state."

Bender received an offer of campaign assistance from Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) at the end of an argument on the Senate floor.

Said McCarthy, who was disputing Bender's position that sometimes we can't do much to stop an ally who wants to sell to Russia: "I still think his (Bender's) record is good enough to lead me to come to Ohio and campaign for him, if he thought it would help."

Bender replied, "I appreciate the senator's kindness."

In Portsmouth, Robert W. Reider, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, urged a labor audience to wage "a victorious fight for the restoration of the two-party system."

Speaking to the Building Construction Trades Council, Reider

said that if the effort was unsuccessful Ohio "is doomed to the status of an industrial slave state for years to come."

Reider called for a "dynamic" state-sponsored industrial expansion program, an overhauling of the state compensation laws, and a more "liberalized" aid to the aged program.

In Lancaster, William Cody Kelly, candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, urged that the post be given a more important role to play in Ohio government.

In addressing a meeting of the Fairfield County Women's Republican Club, Kelly said:

"The lieutenant governor should be more than a mere presiding officer of the Senate. Vice President Richard Nixon has shown how valuable the vice president can be to the chief executive. In Ohio, the No. 2 state official can and should take a lot of the burden of semi-official duties off the shoulders of the governor."

NEW YORK (P)—The New York Times today reported the possibility of a move to draft Former President Harry Truman for the Democratic presidential nomination.

A Washington dispatch to the Times said the Stevenson-Kefauver fight has led to "genuine talk of possible dark horses."

"Indeed," the story said, "there is now serious consideration, mostly in Northern Democratic quarters, but among some Southern professionals as well, of the possibility of attempting in certain eventualities to draft former President Truman."

Meanwhile, Sen. Stuart Symington and Gov. Averell Harriman gained new support as possible candidates.

Neither is now an active candidate. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who is, followed a slightly less strenuous campaign trail yesterday in California, where he is campaigning for votes in the June 5 primary.

HE WILL CLASH with the other currently active candidate, Adlai Stevenson, the party's unsuccessful standard bearer in 1952. Kefauver won their first direct test, in Minnesota a week ago.

The boost for Symington, a Missourian, came in the form of an endorsement by that state's Democratic committee. Adopted unanimously, the resolution made no reference to Symington as a "favorite son." The resolution is subject to approval by the Democratic state convention.

Harriman, governor of New York, was boosted by Frank E. McKinney of Indianapolis, a former chairman of the Democratic National Committee during the Truman administration.

"If and when he announces," McKinney said, "he will find that he has quite a militant group backing him in the states west of the Alleghenies."

Harriman, vacationing at Hobe Sound, Fla., declined comment.

An aide to the New York governor said at Albany there has been no change in Harriman's status as a "not active" candidate. Harriman had been quoted Saturday as saying he is "available" for the

Gunfire Exchanged

JERUSALEM (P)—Egyptian and Israeli forces exchanged fire yesterday near the El Auja demilitarized zone. Each side blamed the other. No casualties were reported.

Herman Field Back In U. S. After Being Polish Prisoner

NEW YORK (P)—Hermann Field, former Cleveland architect who spent five years as a Polish Queen Mary today after an absence of nearly seven years.

He said that his brother, Noel, another principal in the long mystery of the "disappearing Fields," is a "pretty sick man" in Budapest, Hungary.

When asked whether Noel still is a prisoner, Field replied "That's anybody's guess." He said he writes to his brother occasionally to "keep the lines open."

Field, 46, was accompanied by his London-born wife, Kate, and two sons, Hugh, 12, and Allen, 10.

Noel Field, a former U. S. State Department official, and his wife dropped out of sight in May 1949. Hermann was arrested three months later in Poland while searching for his brother.

The Poles released Hermann in October 1954, after, he said, he spent five years in a cellar as a prisoner of the Polish security police. Noel and his wife, Herta, were freed by the Hungarians a month later, but they decided to stay in Hungary and requested political asylum.

Hermann Field received $50,000 from the Polish government as compensation for his imprisonment, and $1,500 more for medical treatment during convalescence after his release.

"I was never officially charged with anything," said Field, Swiss-born of American parents and a one-time architectural planner for Western Reserve University.

"The more they investigated, the less they found out," he said of Polish officials. He said the State Department, urged by "his wife and a sister, Dr. Elsie Doob, a physician of Urbana, Ill., protested but the Poles claimed they knew nothing about me."

He said the mystery of his whereabouts finally was uncovered when a Polish colonel named Swiatlo defected and informed U. S. authorities he had been instrumental in kidnapping Field.

Draft Of Truman Claimed Possible

nomination, but the spokesman said the governor denied using the word "available."

McKinney said he had presided at a March 4 meeting in Denver, at which people from some 14 states were represented.

"IT WAS A conference solely in the interests of Gov. Harriman," McKinney said. "Now, there has been talk in the papers that this was somewhat tied up with stopping Stevenson in Minnesota. That is not true."

McKinney said also that Truman, a personal friend, asked him several weeks ago to "spike any movement for me for President."

He quoted Truman as saying he would not be a candidate under any circumstances.

In Washington, Symington said, "I am not a candidate," and expressed himself as "humbly grateful for the confidence expressed in me" by the Missouri Democratic Committee.

He Gets Out Of Jail, But Wife Remains

STEBENVILLE (P)—Mrs. May Buck, 51, remained in jail today because her fine of $100 and costs was unpaid, but her husband Raymond, 41, paid his two fines and went home.

The woman landed in jail because a state highway patrolman went back to find out why he heard a shot as the husband was being taken to court.

The incident was at the Buck home yesterday. The husband was arrested in connection with a traffic accident. As the patrol car pulled down the lane, a trooper heard a shot. No one was hit.

After the man had been jailed, the patrolman went back and questioned the wife. She admitted firing a rifle, but said it was pointed "in the other direction." She was arrested, too.

In municipal court, Buck was fined $50 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident, and $25 and costs for driving to the left of the center line. He paid, was freed.

Mrs. Buck was convicted of discharging a firearm. When her fine of $100 and costs went unpaid, she was committed to jail.

Huckster's Fancy Hosiery Declined By Brides-to-be

DETROIT (P)—Margaret Truman and Grace Kelly say there is no truth in the report of California hosiery maker that they will wear special wedding hose he said he made for them.

Willis De Mond said in Detroit yesterday he had made three $650 pair of diamond-flecked stockings for Miss Truman and some pearl-trimmed $150-a-pair hose for Miss Kelly.

Miss Truman, daughter of former President Truman, said in New York there was "no truth" in the statement.

Miss Kelly, the movie actress, said she had received no such stockings.

Miss Truman is to marry newsmen Clifton Daniel April 21. Miss Kelly is to marry Prince Rainier III of Monaco April 18.

Japan OKs Budget

TOKYO (P)—Japan's Parliament today approved a national budget of $2,874,463,316 for 1956-57. It provides a $37,225,000 increase in defense spending, earmarked largely for a 10,000-man boost in the army.

House-Senate Group Also OKs 'Dual Parity'

Congress Conference Goes Against Program By Eisenhower, Benson

WASHINGTON (P)—A Senate-House conference committee agreed today on a one-year extension of high, rigid mandatory price supports on basic crops.

The group also accepted a "dual parity" method for using the higher of two price support formulas.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said these two price boosting provisions were agreed upon as part of the controversial election-year farm bill being worked out by a Senate-House compromise group.

Both of these provisions have been publicly opposed by both President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson. The House had voted the rigid support at 90 per cent of parity last year.

The Senate conferees accepted that figure today.

Ellender reported that the conferees also agreed to "knock out all limits" on total price support and soil bank payments. Top limits on such payments had been put in by the Senate.

He predicted that the group later would approve formally the $1.2 billion in annual soil bank payments asked by the administration to bolster sagging farm income.

THE CONFERENCE action came on the heels of a message from Secretary of Agriculture Benson saying each day's delay in congressional enactment of the soil bank program is costing farmers "badly needed income."

Both branches of Congress are to begin a 10-day Easter recess when they adjourn Thursday.

Both Ellender and Rep. Cooley (D-NC), his House counterpart, said they believe the Senate and House will act finally on Thursday if a compromise measure is ready by then. Cooley appeared somewhat less optimistic about finishing the bill tomorrow.

Cooley predicted the compromise version would include a one-year program of price supports at a mandatory 90 per cent of parity for wheat, cotton, corn, rice and peanuts. Parity is a standard fixed by law and said to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

The Eisenhower administration strongly supports a flexible system in which price supports on these basic crops vary with the size of stocks on hand. Such a system was enacted in 1954. The House bill would scrap it. The Senate version would retain the theory of flexibility, while adding features to restrict it.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), senior GOP senator on the conference group, said he expects the compromise to include 90 per cent supports "for one year or more."

UNDER THE SOIL bank, farmers would be paid to hold some of their land out of production until present farm surpluses are reduced. The House bill, based on a return to high-level fixed price supports for basic crops, contains no such plan, but the House is expected to accept the idea.

Benson had been invited to appear before the House committee today but Cooley canceled the invitation, saying he did not wish to give the secretary opportunity to use the committee as a forum for additional "missionary work."

The House committee is sharply at odds with Benson over his insistence that the flexible price support system be continued.

Conceding Cooley's right to cancel his appearance before the committee, Benson sent copies of his statement to the group.

Benson denied, as some congressmen have argued, that the administration already has authority to set up the soil bank.

"This has been carefully reviewed by our legal staff and the answer is that there are definite legal reasons for the necessity of new legislation. In order that there may be no misunderstanding, I wish to make clear that if Congress had provided the authority this soil bank program would be in operation right now."

CAIRO (P)—Egyptian dancer Hurriya Mohamed agreed today to teach a visiting Chinese ballet troupe belly dancing. The Chinese troupe forms part of a cultural mission now visiting Egypt.

Joint Meeting Of Two Boards Seems Doubtful

If there is to be a meeting of the Miami Trace School Board and the Washington C. H. School Board tonight, or any other night this week, members of the Washington C. H. board don't know anything about it.

Robert Terhune, the president of the Washington C. H. board, said at noon Tuesday that he had heard nothing about a meeting of the two boards.

Supt. W. A. Smith said no word of a meeting had come into the office of the superintendent about a joint meeting of the boards.

Both said, however, that they had heard reports that the Miami Trace Board either had, or planned to, asked the Washington C. H. board to meet with it.

Adding more doubt to the meeting, Terhune said two of the Washington C. H. board members are not here now — one, William A. Lovell is in Florida and the other, Charles Pensyl, is in Kansas. He said he did not know when either would return.

These reports indicated that the Miami Trace board wanted to talk over the complicated school problems with the Washington C. H. board following Saturday night's meeting in the high school auditorium here.

However, the reports were vague about just what problems the Miami Trace Board wanted to take up — if a joint meeting actually was wanted.

The Washington C. H. board had asked parents of the approximately 230 tuition pupils now attending Washington C. H. High School to meet with it in the high school auditorium Saturday night to hear its reasons for closing the doors to tuition pupils at the end of this year.

IT WAS ESTIMATED that between 250 and 300 parents were at the meeting; A registration was started but it faded out after three sheets of paper had been covered with signatures.

The parents heard the Washington C. H. board's explanation for closing (but not locking) the doors; In substance, that explanation was that the Washington C. H. board was forced to assume that the County School Board was not interested in working out mutual problems with the Washington C. H. board since all of its efforts at a cooperative approach to them during the last six or seven years had met with rebuff.

After Terhune, the president of the Washington C. H. board, adjourned the explanation meeting, the parents remained in the auditorium and set up the framework of an Interested Parents Association, with the avowed purpose of trying to bring at least most of five townships into the Washington C. H. school district so their children could attend Washington C. H. High School.

There was also considerable talk at the meeting about a single high school for students of both Washington C. H. and the whole of Fayette County.

Before this meeting adjourned, Joe White had been named the temporary chairman and a central committee of 30 men and women named.

Representatives of the Interested Parents Association are to attend next Saturday's regular meeting of the Fayette County School Board, in the Court House, if everything goes according to plan.

Miss Gilles had been in the hospital since 1881, when she was taken there as an 18-year-old girl. Through the years most of her close relatives and friends had either died or moved away and the hospital had lost contact with them, it was explained by one of the officials there when the help of the Record-Herald in locating some relatives was asked.

Mrs. Glasco said she read the piece in the Record-Herald Monday evening and got in touch with hospital authorities Tuesday morning. After establishing her identity and relationship, Mrs. Glasco arranged with the Gerstner Funeral Home for the committal service Wednesday morning.

Make This Home Recipe
To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugstore and ask for four ounces of liquid Renel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Joint Meeting Of Two Boards Seems Doubtful

If there is to be a meeting of the Miami Trace School Board and the Washington C. H. School Board tonight, or any other night this week, members of the Washington C. H. board don't know anything about it.

Robert Terhune, the president of the Washington C. H. board, said at noon Tuesday that he had heard nothing about a meeting of the two boards.

Supt. W. A. Smith said no word of a meeting had come into the office of the superintendent about a joint meeting of the boards.

Both said, however, that they had heard reports that the Miami Trace Board either had, or planned to, asked the Washington C. H. board to meet with it.

Adding more doubt to the meeting, Terhune said two of the Washington C. H. board members are not here now — one, William A. Lovell is in Florida and the other, Charles Pensly, is in Kansas. He said he did not know when either would return.

These reports indicated that the Miami Trace board wanted to talk over the complicated school problems with the Washington C. H. board following Saturday night's meeting in the high school auditorium here.

However, the reports were vague about just what problems the Miami Trace Board wanted to take up — if a joint meeting actually was wanted.

The Washington C. H. board had asked parents of the approximately 230 tuition pupils now attending Washington C. H. High School to meet with it in the high school auditorium Saturday night to hear its reasons for closing the doors to tuition pupils at the end of this year.

IT WAS ESTIMATED that between 250 and 300 parents were at the meeting. A registration was started but it faded out after three sheets of paper had been covered with signatures.

The parents heard the Washington C. H. board's explanation for closing (but not locking) the doors; in substance, that explanation was that the Washington C. H. board was forced to assume that the County School Board was not interested in working out mutual problems with the Washington C. H. board since all of its efforts at a cooperative approach to them during the last six or seven years had met with rebuff.

After Terhune, the president of the Washington C. H. board, adjourned the explanation meeting, the parents remained in the auditorium and set up the framework of an Interested Parents Association, with the avowed purpose of trying to bring at least most of five townships into the Washington C. H. school district so their children could attend Washington C. H. High School.

There was also considerable talk at the meeting about a single high school for students of both Washington C. H. and the whole of Fayette County.

Before this meeting adjourned, Joe White had been named the temporary chairman and a central committee of 30 men and women named.

Representatives of the Interested Parents Association are to attend next Saturday's regular meeting of the Fayette County School Board, in the Court House, if everything goes according to plan.

Miss Minnie Gilles Services Planned

Committal services for Miss Minnie Gilles, 94, who died Saturday in the State Hospital in Columbus are to be held at 10:30 A. M. Wednesday in Washington C. H. Cemetery.

Arrangements for the interment and committal services were made by her half-sister, Mrs. Nellie Glascoe, 815 Maple Street.

Mrs. Glascoe learned of Miss Gilles' death when she read in the Record-Herald that she had died at the State Hospital and that authorities there were looking for some of her relatives.

Miss Gilles had been in the hospital since 1881, when she was taken there as an 18-year-old girl. Through the years most of her close relatives and friends had either died or moved away and the hospital had lost contact with them, it was explained by one of the officials there when the help of the Record-Herald in locating some relatives was asked.

Mrs. Glascoe said she read the piece in the Record-Herald Monday evening and got in touch with hospital authorities Tuesday morning. After establishing her identity and relationship, Mrs. Glascoe arranged for the committal service Wednesday morning.

Rev. Edward Gray, a Baptist preacher, is to conduct the graveside service.

To Take Off Ugly Fat
It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe your own. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugstore and ask for four ounces of liquid Benger Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.
If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if you reduce pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Several years ago I became involved with a married man many years my senior. He vowed love for me, even though he admitted he could find no fault with his wife as a person. We saw each other constantly, being employed at the same place.

Since then I have married a wonderful man my own age. I haven't told him of my previous indiscretion, and am constantly afraid lest he find out. I love my husband very much and realize that the former attachment was just excitement, not real love.

As we live in the same town as the other man, I fear that my husband, at some future time, will discover my sin. The man's wife had even consented to a divorce, and I am afraid there were other persons besides her who suspected we had an affair. Should I have disclosed this before we married? Should I tell him now?

G. S.

DEAR G. S.: In regard to your past lamented indiscretion with a married man, you'll simply have to become self-possessed, psychologically. It isn't appropriate to be quaking in your boots, as if the public were the keeper of your conscience. And as if you are at the mercy of any possible loose talk that might happen to drift in to your husband's ears.

If you have sinned and fallen short of virtuous standards of behavior, well, so (with one exception) has everybody who has ever lived—we are told by John, the "disciple whom Jesus loved." He further states that anyone who claims he hasn't sinned is a liar, and the truth is not in him.

Instead of dwelling in fear about the past, you might better invest your energies in private praise and thanksgiving to God for having brought you by the right way, to your present blessings. If you are still entangled in guilt feelings, you need confessional help, from a wise clergyman preferably—although a psychological counselor might give healing insight too. But you shouldn't burden your husband with the matter, now or ever.

In putting to rest this type of misgiving, "least said, soonest mended" is the best rule to go by in marriage.

Meeting Next Week For Salvation Army

The story of what the Fayette County Salvation Army Service Unit is to be unfolded in words and figures at the annual meeting of the committee next Tuesday evening.

Letters telling committee members that the annual meeting is to be held at the Country Club Drive-in Restaurant at the corner of Elm Street and Highland Avenue have been sent out by W. J. Hilty, the county committee chairman. The meeting is to be held following dinner at 6:30 P. M.

The committee has had its annual meeting at the Country Club Drive-in for the last three years.

One of the high ranking officers of the Salvation Army is expected to come here for the meeting just as in the previous years. However, just who that officer will be has not been disclosed, usually they have; come from the headquarters in Cincinnati.

In the letter to the committee members, Chairman Hilty said: "We will discuss our plans for the coming year and would like to have as many as possible present at this meeting." There are approximately 20 men and women on the committee and they represent every section of the city and county.

Other high spots were Mrs. Kenneth Miller's version of "Piano Roll Blues," played appropriately enough, on the piano; and Mrs. Jack Flax's singing of "The One Rose," accompanied by Mrs. Pittenger.

At the close of the session, The group ate the 50-timer cake they had given Mrs. Davis, plus a good deal of finger food.

The April songfest will have a nautical theme and, if all goes well, will be the 10th and 25th session for a number of participants, meaning lots of requests from the soon-to-be-crowned 10- and 25-timers.

AA Anniversary Observed Here

Gathering Of 200 Hears Woman Speaker

Men and women who recognize they have a personal problem with alcohol and are doing something about it gathered at the Dayton Power and Light Co. auditorium to observe the tenth anniversary of the founding of a unit of Alcoholics Anonymous in Washington, C. H.

At the meeting were AAs from Circleville, Columbus, Gahanna, Lancaster, Lima, London, Newark, Niles, Springfield and Xenia.

All told, the attendance was around 200, but how many were members of the organization and how many were their wives or husbands will never be known because of the anonymity of the members.

The speaker for this occasion was Anna C., a woman prominent in civic affairs in Niles who has completed eight years of sobriety as a member of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Of the 200 at the meeting, less than 50 live in Fayette County, one of the members estimated. He said that while there are now only about 20 active members of AA here, several "alumni" and wives and husbands of members were there to swell the host delegation.

Meetings of the group here are held every Saturday night (the place and time not disclosed publicly). Although the membership fluctuates, it is at one of the lowest figures here now that it has been in a long time, a member said.

Joseph B. Oberschlake

An enlistee in the U. S. Marine Corps, Oberschlake left Cincinnati, where he took his physical, Monday evening. He was bound for the San Diego, Cal., Marine Training Center for his boot training. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh E. Oberschlake of the Bogus Road, he attended Washington C. H. High School.

"The baby swallowed Father's cuff link!"

Mother calls the doctor. Father calls the fire department. Hysteria reigns until Junior finds the missing cuff link under the bed.

Scenes like this have happened in almost every household where there is a baby. Children seem to be born with the desire to swallow anything small enough to be fitted into the mouth. Unfortunately, too often the cuff link is not under the bed. Baby really has managed to swallow it. Fortunately, doctors are constantly developing new ways to get it out again.

As early as 1620, medical history tells us, a surgeon removed nine coins swallowed by a boy who was about to be robbed. Today doctors try to find ways of avoiding surgery in removing objects that children swallow.

One new way of removing a metallic object is use of a very small magnet on a string. The magnet can be put into the throat and allowed to work its way down into the stomach or intestines. It is then withdrawn, pulling the indigestible tidbit with it. Doctors have had considerable success in retrieving Mother's bobby pins by this method. However, it is not an operation to be performed by "do-it-yourself" fans.

Physicians can now also give antibiotic drugs to prevent infection. Then wait and watch until the object is eliminated naturally. An unusual case reported by one doctor is that of a year-old baby boy who swallowed five open safety pins and a dozen needles. He also managed to consume the balloon given to him at the hospital. The child was given antibiotics.

Almost all the objects were eliminated; a few had to be removed by surgery. He left the hospital in the best of health — ready to swallow anything else he could get his hands on.

Foreign bodies which get into the windpipe and lungs are perhaps the most dangerous to children. If not coughed up, clogging of air passages results. Emergency removal is usually necessary.

Doctors do their best, but the important task in preventing the tragedies that can result from swallowing odd objects is up to parents. It's a twenty-four hour job to protect baby from the strange diet he will follow in his natural desire to try the taste of anything and everything.

Holy Week Services Set

Y-Teens Sponsor Sessions At School

The Senior Y-Teens here are sponsoring the third in an annual series of Holy Week observances at Washington C. H. High School Tuesday and Wednesday morning.

"The services are directed toward the students and teachers," said Miss Marjorie Evans, the Y-Teen advisor, "but everyone is welcome."

The services run from 8 to 8:30 A. M. both Tuesday and Wednesday, to allow students ample time to get to their classes, she said.

Tuesday's speaker was Rev. Norman D. Renn, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Rev. Harold Braden, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church will speak on Wednesday.

The pattern of both Tuesday's and Wednesday's services is the same, with different Y-Teen members in charge each day.

Nancy Merritt gave the call to worship to open Tuesday's session, Patsy Cockerill read an Easter poem, the high school triple trio sang "Open Our Eyes," Jackie Lightle read from the Scriptures.

Rev. Renn spoke on "The Call of the Cross" and offered prayer.

JUDY SMITH will open Wednesday's session with the call to prayer, and Mary Ann Carr will read an Easter poem. Jo Ann Williamson will sing a solo, "Open the Gate," accompanied by Nancy Hurtt, and Linda Hidy will read from the Scriptures. Rev. Braden is to speak on "Gethsemane" and offer a closing prayer. The group will sing a hymn.

The special services, to be held in the high school auditorium, were planned by Y-Teen members under the direction of Nancy Merritt, president, and Mary Ann Carr, chairman of the religion committee.

Assisting in the preparations for the two special services were Miss Gladys Melson and her students, who typed the programs; Paul Pritchard, Walter Engle and the boys of the vocational auto mechanics and vocational agriculture departments, who made a rustic cross to display on the stage, and Thomas M. A. S. E. I. L., who coached some of the participants in the services.

Japan has a population of more than 88 million, says the National Geographic Society.

Becky sang the echo in "Little Sir Echo," often beating the singer she was supposed to be echoing by a good bar and a half. Her mother was the original of the echo.

Will South Cause A Democratic Split?

While just about every community in this nation has some degree of interest in the educational racial segregation controversy which the Supreme Court decision has brought out in the open, the political effect is just now being widely discussed as to the effect of the attitude of southern states always counted as Democratic.

The efforts of various Democratic leaders and politicians to embarrass the Eisenhower administration with all types of attack on every issue, whether important or not, is presumed to have been directed for the most part to offset public attention to the furious maneuvering inside the Democratic party in its effort to maintain some semblance of a "united front" in this 1956 campaign, when most southern states and their independent action are giving Democratic organization officials plenty of concern.

The Southern "manifesto" pledging the use of all "legal means" to avoid compliance with the Supreme Court decision outlawing educational segregation is so explosive a document that it must inevitably blow Democratic plans completely apart.

Under our law, the only way in which a Supreme Court decision can be circumvented is through the legislative process. This means the passage of a Constitutional Amendment in the present circumstances. No one can envisage the drafting and adoption of an Amendment which would authorize in cold, naked print a doctrine tantamount to a declaration of "second class citizenship" for native born Americans in the second half of the 20th Century.

Such an Amendment would be enough to arouse half the people of the world to a complete disregard for America's constantly reiterated assurances of freedom, brotherhood and equality.

Democratic politicians of the North would never swallow such a plan. In this dilemma, the South is on the verge of another "States Rights Party" development. It's 1948 again, with an even more obvious demonstration that the New Dealers are in no shape to govern the nation today.

'Japanese Look' Grips City

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of nice things have been said about Miss Truman's fiancé, Cliff Daniel, and I am going to add to them from a particular point of view. During the big war, he ran the day news desk in the Associated Press London office, and I was on his staff for a spell. He is a quiet type with an easy way and an off-beat sense of humor. But when necessary, he could be a hard driver, and his famous urbanity disappeared.

Nevertheless, he was unfailingly popular with his staff, a fairly acid test of a newspaperman, or of any man.

Japanese art has had an amazing impact on this town in the last two or three years. You see the "Japanese Look" all over the place.

It has affected the amount of furniture in living rooms and the number of flowers in a vase less furniture, fewer flowers. Some new apartments have what the Japanese call "Shoji," sliding panels, instead of doors on clothes closets. A type of electric lamp shade that resembles a Japanese lantern in glass is appearing in shop windows.

This interest was well foreshadowed by the success of the Japanese house, brought here by the Museum of Modern Art. In the four months of 1954 when it was open, the house attracted 121,187 people at 60 cents a ticket. Last summer, 101,937 went through.

It is a genuine home, shipped in sections and reassembled here. The museum directors surrounded it with a real Japanese garden.

The house has been such a success it probably will be kept on some other site as a permanent institution, the museum said.

Adlai Stevenson was here a while back and a theatrical producer gave a cocktail party for him at a restaurant in the theater district. Most of the guests were actors and actresses accustomed to attracting all the attention themselves. But such is the lure of politics that they crowded around Stevenson oh'ing and ah'ing, and one lady said, "I just want to tell you that I think you're won-der-ful."

Stevenson, a man seldom at a loss for words, could only run his finger around his collar, murmuring, "Well-ah-well, I'm sure I-well, thank you very much."

Soviet Devaluation Of Stalin

It stands to reason that those who hope to hold Stalin's place as Czar of all the Russians have to destroy his "personality," as they call it. Otherwise, as long as they rule, they will be compared to Stalin to their disadvantage because not only the Russian people, but the conquered peoples in all the satellite countries have been forced to believe that Stalin is the greatest figure that ever said and did was right.

How is such an order of life suddenly changed? The collective leadership consists entirely of Stalin's subordinates, men who are alive because Stalin let them live. Never once did they risk their lives to oppose what they now say Stalin did. Of course, Stalin was a murderer. Of course, he emulated Ivan the Terrible. But all the men who are in the collective leadership today were associated with Stalin in his absolutism. They profited by it.

However, politics is a technique that is practiced without too much sentimentality anywhere. The objective of the politician is to keep himself in office and in power and a dead man is only useful to him if his ghost can help keep him in office and in power.

Stalin built the largest and most compact empire in history. He brought to Russia great power and enormous wealth. He did it by a brutality hardly equalled in history. His successors have to produce something to equal the achievements of Stalin. One of the ways for them to succeed is to discredit Stalin and his accomplishments. "Do you think that Stalin did so much at Yalta?" they can ask. "Look what we did at Geneva! Stalin made all the world suspicious of Russia, but we are winning victories without suspicion."

Another factor in this situation is that no great revolutionary leaders exist in Russia today because Stalin killed them. The present collective leadership is post-revolutionary as most of the people in Russia are post-revolutionary. If a man is 50 years old today, he was 11 years old in 1917; a man of 30 was born altogether outside the period of revolution and during the time when Stalin was already in control. There is little memory among the people of Trotsky, Bukharin, Zinoviev or Kamev; Lenin is recalled as a distant god whose writings must be read to gain any advancement in the communist hierarchy. The people to whom Stalin addressed himself in the 1920's were very different from those to whom Khrushchev addresses himself today.

day. Bolshevik Russia is dying; a new Russia has come upon the scene. The Martini has taken the place of Vodka, but it's still bad for the liver.

The new Russia is being designed by Khrushchev who has to destroy Stalin's Russia and Stalin's Soviet Universal State before he can make his plans work. Stalin apparently preferred to be feared; Khrushchev, Bulganin, Malenkov and the others of this generation prefer to be popular. They travel abroad and dress in native costume wherever they happen to be. Malenkov grins in London like a cartoon of a cockney character I once saw in a Charles Laughton picture. Maybe he saw that picture, too. Stalin did not find it necessary to do any grinning; he was obviously willing to be hated by those who were not his slaves. Stalinism prevailed among a people accustomed to a Czar. It is unbelievable that there is not a Stalinist faction in the presidium. Khrushchev may have to exile or kill

In places like Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and China, must come as a shock to the communists who have been drilled to accept Stalinism as part of the socialist canon. In Italy and the United States, this new development if particularly damaging.

The American communists on orders of Stalin through Jacques Duclos humiliated and eliminated Earl Browder for taking the identical position Khrushchev took in his famous seven-hour speech, namely, that there is more than one road for the achievement of socialism. What can the American communists say to Browder now? How can they defend themselves except by insisting that Stalin was right and that Khrushchev is now wrong? This situation needs to be watched closely and understood because it may turn into a world cataclysm during the next year.

Toys Are Big Help In Operating Room

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Cuddly teddy bears, rubber rabbits and toy telephones play important part in operating room procedures at many of the nation's hospitals. So do toy space and "jet pilot" helmets.

An increasing number of hospitals are employing these toys to administer anesthesia without fear to young surgery patients.

Strange Surroundings

It's perfectly natural for a youngster to be frightened by the strange surroundings of an operating room. The white-gowned figures are scary enough, but add a confining anesthetic mask or cone and you've really got a frightened patient.

In the past, only too often, coaxing or outright threats have been used to get children to cooperate.

Now, however, physicians have devised toy telephones which exude nitrous oxide and "Sleepy Rabbits" which easily enable a child to be whisked into blissful unconsciousness by cyclopropane.

Plastic Helmets

The teddy bears and plastic helmets also permit easy administration of anesthesia.

A recent article in Medical News tells of the success two Salt Lake City surgeons had with the rubber "Sleepy Rabbit."

Drs. Thomas Ray Broadbent and Jack Stringham of Latterday Saints Hospital first recommend that the steps leading to unconsciousness be explained to the child in simple terms.

Then, the young patient is permitted to hold the teddy bear or phone, look at the closely held rubber rabbit or don the space helmet while the anesthetic flows through the toy into the child's face.

Some children, of course, won't hold still for the toys, either. In such cases, the doctors advise, the anesthetic tube is removed from the toy and this alone is used without any kind of a mask.

So, you see toys in the operating room may be almost as important as a scalpel.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department armed with a new weapon just handed it by the Supreme Court, will now go ahead with the job of trying to make reluctant witnesses unravel some Red conspiracy in the United States.

The court Monday upheld the immunity law passed in 1954 by Congress to make unwilling witnesses—Communists or non-Communists—testify in court cases involving national security. Spying, for instance.

This law says that if a witness before a federal grand jury or congressional committee investigating a case involving national security refuses to testify—on the grounds he might incriminate himself—then:

He can be guaranteed that he won't be prosecuted. What if he still refuses? He can be cited for contempt and jailed.

But the court limited itself to saying this law could be used by the Justice Department in making grand jury investigations. It did not—and specifically said it did not—say it was all right for congressional committees to use it. The court may rule later in the committees' favor.

Grand juries and congressional committees have been hampered in their inquiries into communism by witnesses' use of the Fifth

Amendment, which says a man cannot be forced to testify to anything which might incriminate him.

Once a man claims up behind this amendment neither a jury nor a committee can tell whether he really has anything to fear or is just refusing to talk to protect friends or acquaintances.

Yet, the amendment is intended to protect only the witness himself from saying anything which might lead to his own prosecution.

Congress two years ago passed the immunity law, which applies only when a witness in a national security case invokes the Fifth Amendment before a grand jury or congressional committee. This can be done: The Justice Department or the committee can ask a federal judge to promise the witness he will not be prosecuted for anything he says, even though he involves himself in a crime in the security case in question by his testimony.

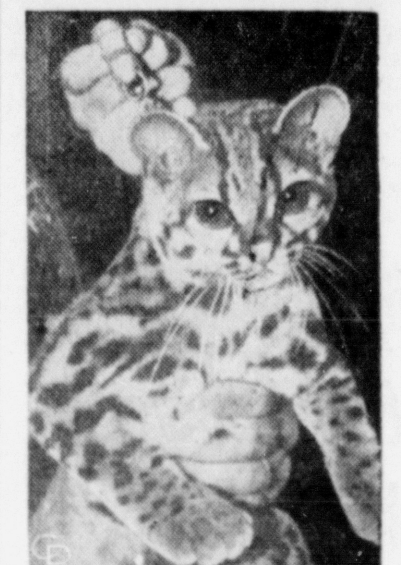

This wipes out any need for the Fifth Amendment in his case. The promise of immunity takes the place of the Fifth Amendment in protecting him from prosecution.

Having been offered immunity in exchange for his testimony, if he still won't talk he can be cited for contempt and jailed. This is what happened when a federal grand jury, making the first use of the 1954 law, questioned William

Ludwig Ullmann about a wartime Washington spy ring.

He invoked the Fifth Amendment, was granted immunity, refused to talk, was sentenced to six months in jail, and appealed all the way up to the Supreme Court.

Now, with the court upholding the law, a Justice department spokesman said it will go ahead with its investigations.

Will South Cause A Democratic Split?

While just about every community in this nation has some degree of interest in the educational racial segregation controversy which the Supreme Court decision has brought out in the open, the political effect is just now being widely discussed as to the effect of the attitude of southern states always counted as Democratic.

The efforts of various Democratic leaders and politicians to embarrass the Eisenhower administration with all types of attack on every issue, whether important or not, is presumed to have been directed for the most part to offset public attention to the furious maneuvering inside the Democratic party in its effort to maintain some semblance of a "united front" in this 1956 campaign, when most southern states and their independent action are giving Democratic organization officials plenty of concern.

The Southern "manifesto" pledging the use of all "legal means" to avoid compliance with the Supreme Court decision outlawing educational segregation is so explosive a document that it must inevitably blow Democratic plans completely apart.

Under our law, the only way in which a Supreme Court decision can be circumvented is through the legislative process. This means the passage of a Constitutional Amendment in the present circumstances. No one can envisage the drafting and adoption of an Amendment which would authorize in cold, naked print a doctrine tantamount to a declaration of "second class citizenship" for native born Americans in the second half of the 20th Century.

Such an Amendment would be enough to arouse half the people of the world to a complete disregard for America's constantly reiterated assurances of freedom, brotherhood and equality.

Democratic politicians of the North would never swallow such a plan. In this dilemma, the South is on the verge of another "States Rights Party" development. It's 1948 again, with an even more obvious demonstration that the New Dealers are in no shape to govern the nation today.

'Japanese Look' Grips City

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of nice things have been said about Miss Truman's fiancé, Cliff Daniel, and I am going to add to them from a particular point of view. # Honors Given To 4-H Workers

Junior Leaders And Advisors Get Awards

Two outstanding 4-H Junior Leaders and nine long-term 4-H advisors from Fayette County were among hundreds of 4-H workers throughout Ohio honored during Farm and Home Week at Ohio State University.

Gene Gustin and Marilyn Heistand were the two Junior Leadership Club members from here included in a group of nearly 150 youngsters from 88 counties who received the Junior Leader Honor Award.

Four persons from here attended the recognition ceremonies for 4-H advisors who have put in five, ten, 15, 20, 25 or 30 years of service.

Those attending were Miss Louise Ritter and Lowell Woods, who have ten years of service as 4-H advisors and Mrs. Thomas Christoffer and Mrs. Bert Fenner, who have each been advising five years.

Unable to attend the ceremonies but eligible for honors, pins and certificates were Barton Montgomery, an advisor for ten years and Mrs. H. W. Walls, Mrs. Ralph Davidson, Robert Agle and Sam Marting, all with five years service.

THE AWARD FOR the junior leaders was given after a full day's program. The honors for the advisors were given at a luncheon.

The program for the Junior Leaders included an initiation ceremony written and directed by Miss Eva Kinsey, assistant state 4-H club leader. Following a luncheon at the Ohio Union cafeteria, the group met to hear Dr. Frank Slutz, Dayton educator, discuss the characteristics and attributes of a leader.

Dr. Slutz said vision, wisdom, courage, delegateness and influence, are essential leadership characteristics.

The junior leaders discussed the role of leadership in their home communities.

The day's activities were concluded with a banquet in the ballroom of the Ohio Union with several of the state 4-H club staff present, including Director of Extension W. B. Wood.

The award program started in 1932 and all former winners were invited to attend the annual banquet. Karma Kay Knox a 1955 Fayette County winner, was present among the 217 junior leaders attending.

Most Of Estate Left To Church By Miss Gardner

The will of Miss Edith H. Gardner, which disposes of an estate valued at approximately $70,000, has been probated and W. S. Paxson and Miss Dorothy A. Rogers, of Wilmington are made executors of the estate.

Most of her property had been given to the trustees of the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church under agreement of Dec. 12, 1947 to be known as the Gardner Memorial and used for a home for retired Methodist ministers, their wives and widows.

This includes the Gardner home, several residence properties and a total of some 17 acres surrounding the home on Circle Avenue, as well as a farm of more than 200 acres on the Robinson Road.

To Grace Methodist Church trustees she left $5,000 as a memorial to her parents, Hon. and Mrs. Mills Gardner, the money to be invested in sound securities and income used for benefit of the church.

To Miss Rogers, she gave $1,000 in money certain Chinaware and silver.

The sum of $500 was left to Haines V. Reichel and $500 to his mother, Mrs. Mary Reichel.

To Stella A. Rogers (now deceased) hand painted china and any other china she desired except rosebud Haviland china. Two needlepoint chairs were left to Amanda Paxson.

Certain coin silver spoons were first given to the Campus Mar-

tius Museum at Marietta, but a codicil revokes the gift and the spoons were given to the Fayette County Historical Society.

Miss Gardner also had given dozens of other family heirlooms to the Fayette County Historical Society, in a written agreement made after the will was drawn.

The will was witnessed by Rev. Allan W. Caley, former Grace Church pastor, and Paxson.

Plans Taking Form For Easter Service

Plans for the 23rd annual Easter sunrise service at the First Presbyterian Church here today were beginning to take on definite form.

Held under the sponsorship of the Leadership Training Class, the service is to open at 7 o'clock Easter morning in the church sanctuary.

A former pastor, Rev. John K. Abernethy, is coming here from his home in Indianapolis to deliver the Easter message. Rev. Abernethy went from here to the pastorate of the Presbyterian Church in Coshocton but later was advanced to the position of associate secretary of the Division of Evangelistic Missions of the Presbytery in a Church.

As a part of this sunrise service, a poem, "Easter Dawn," written by Mrs. Howard Perrill, is to be recited and a solo is to be sung by Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee.

Mrs. Walter Coil, in charge of arrangements for the service, said "if the public is cordially invited to attend the services of our church."

The purpose is to "stimulate interest in education in the fields of science and engineering," according to E. N. Reed, industrial engineer at the Armco plant here.

He said that Armco is receiving aid on a local level from such businesses as the Dayton Power and Light Co. here, which is loaning the company auditorium for the exhibits. The Cincinnati Milling Co. and the Gardner Paper and Box Co. are also aiding Armco in other areas.

REED AND A. H. Hutton, Armco manager here, represent the sponsoring company on the committee which arranged the county contest.

That committee includes W. W. Boyer, superintendent of the Miami Trace School District; W. A. Smith, Washington C. H. school superintendent; W. J. Hilly, county school superintendent; John Trace, Washington C. H. High School principal and Charles Glover.

Many students have entered the contest as a team, with the work—and award, if there is one—split between two students.

Listed by school are those pupils who have registered exhibits, the year in school, the field in which the entry is made and the subject of the exhibit:

Honors Given To 4-H Workers

Junior Leaders And Advisors Get Awards

Two outstanding 4-H Junior Leaders and nine long-term 4-H advisors from Fayette County were among hundreds of 4-H workers throughout Ohio honored during Farm and Home Week at Ohio State University.

Gene Gustin and Marilyn Heistand were the two Junior Leadership Club members from here included in a group of nearly 150 youngsters from 88 counties who received the Junior Leader Honor Award.

Four persons from here attended the recognition ceremonies for 4-H advisors who have put in five, ten, 15, 20, 25 or 30 years of service.

Those attending were Miss Louise Ritter and Lowell Woods, who have ten years of service as 4-H advisors and Mrs. Thomas Christoffer and Mrs. Bert Fenner, who have each been advising five years.

Unable to attend the ceremonies but eligible for honors, pins and certificates were Barton Montgomery, an advisor for ten years and Mrs. H. W. Walls, Mrs. Ralph Davidson, Robert Agle and Sam Marting, all with five years service.

THE AWARD FOR the junior leaders was given after a full day's program. The honors for the advisors were given at a luncheon.

The program for the Junior Leaders included an initiation ceremony written and directed by Miss Eva Kinsey, assistant state 4-H club leader. Following a luncheon at the Ohio Union cafeteria, the group met to hear Dr. Frank Slutz, Dayton educator, discuss the characteristics and attributes of a leader.

Dr. Slutz said vision, wisdom, courage, delegateness and influence, are essential leadership characteristics.

The junior leaders discussed the role of leadership in their home communities.

The day's activities were concluded with a banquet in the ballroom of the Ohio Union with several of the state 4-H club staff present, including Director of Extension W. B. Wood.

The award program started in 1932 and all former winners were invited to attend the annual banquet. Karma Kay Knox a 1955 Fayette County winner, was present among the 217 junior leaders attending.

BUTTON 'N' BATTER

Group singing, planning for a tour and a pair of meetings in April, demonstrations on pattern and pie making and fresh-baked pie for refreshments were all combined when the Button 'N' Batter 4-H Club met recently.

Just to be a bit different, the group opened the meeting with the 4-H pledge and went right into a round of group singing. Sara Sue Davidson, president, led the meeting and Sharon Warnock handled the secretary's duties.

The group discussed an educational tour to Springfield April 2 and members were urged to attend the Grooming Clinic April 5 and the Officers and Advisors Conference, April 9.

Secretary Sharon doubled up on her duties and demonstrated pattern cutting on a plaid material, pointing out the method of matching the plaid.

Mary Anne Creamer and Donna Lovett teamed up for a demonstration on the art of pie-making. The members shared the pies.

Mrs. Ance Creamer and Mrs. Ralph Davidson, advisors, were present to provide a bit of training.

Will South Cause A Democratic Split?

While just about every community in this nation has some degree of interest in the educational racial segregation controversy which the Supreme Court decision has brought out in the open, the political effect is just now being widely discussed as to the effect of the attitude of southern states always counted as Democratic.

The efforts of various Democratic leaders and politicians to embarrass the Eisenhower administration with all types of attack on every issue, whether important or not, is presumed to have been directed for the most part to offset public attention to the furious maneuvering inside the Democratic party in its effort to maintain some semblance of a "united front" in this 1956 campaign, when most southern states and their independent action are giving Democratic organization officials plenty of concern.

The Southern "manifesto" pledging the use of all "legal means" to avoid compliance with the Supreme Court decision outlawing educational segregation is so explosive a document that it must inevitably blow Democratic plans completely apart.

Under our law, the only way in which a Supreme Court decision can be circumvented is through the legislative process. This means the passage of a Constitutional Amendment in the present circumstances. No one can envisage the drafting and adoption of an Amendment which would authorize in cold, naked print a doctrine tantamount to a declaration of "second class citizenship" for native born Americans in the second half of the 20th Century.

Such an Amendment would be enough to arouse half the people of the world to a complete disregard for America's constantly reiterated assurances of freedom, brotherhood and equality.

Democratic politicians of the North would never swallow such a plan. In this dilemma, the South is on the verge of another "States Rights Party" development. It's 1948 again, with an even more obvious demonstration that the New Dealers are in no shape to govern the nation today.

'Japanese Look' Grips City

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of nice things have been said about Miss Truman's fiancé, Cliff Daniel, and I am going to add to them from a particular point of view. During the big war, he ran the day news desk in the Associated Press London office, and I was on his staff for a spell. He is a quiet type, with an easy way and an off-beat sense of humor. But when necessary, he could be a hard driver, and his famous urbanity disappeared.

Nevertheless, he was unfailingly popular with his staff, a fairly acid test of a newspaperman, or of any man.

Japanese art has had an amazing impact on this town in the last two or three years. You see the "Japanese Look" all over the place.

It has affected the amount of furniture in living rooms and the number of flowers in a vase less furniture, fewer flowers. Some new apartments have what the Japanese call "Shoji," sliding panels, instead of doors on clothes closets. A type of electric lamp shade that resembles a Japanese lantern in glass is appearing in shop windows.

This interest was well foreshadowed by the success of the Japanese house, brought here by the Museum of Modern Art. In the four months of 1954 when it was open, the house attracted 121,187 people at 60 cents a ticket. Last summer, 101,937 went through.

It is a genuine home, shipped in sections and reassembled here. The museum directors sur-

By Relman Morin
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

rounded it with a real Japanese garden.

The house has been such a success it probably will be kept on some other site as a permanent institution, the museum said.

Adlai Stevenson was here a while back and a theatrical producer gave a cocktail party for him at a restaurant in the theater district. Most of the guests were actors and actresses accustomed to attracting all the attention themselves. But such is the lure of politics that they crowded around Stevenson on ohing and ahing, and one lady said, "I just want to tell you that I think you're wonderful."

Stevenson, a man seldom at a loss for words, could only run his finger around his collar, murmuring, "Well-ah-well, I'm sure I-well, thank you very much."

Soviet Devaluation Of Stalin

It stands to reason that those who hope to hold Stalin's place as Czar of all the Russians have to destroy his "personality," as they call it. Otherwise, as long as they rule, they will be compared to Stalin to their disadvantage because not only the Russian people, but the conquered peoples in all the satellite countries have been forced to believe that Stalin is the greatest figure that ever said and did was right.

How is such an order of life suddenly changed? The collective leadership consists entirely of Stalin's subordinates, men who are alive because Stalin let them live. Never once did they risk their lives to oppose what they now say Stalin did. Of course, Stalin was a murderer. Of course, he emulated Ivan the Terrible. But all the men who are in the collective leadership today were associated with Stalin in his absolutism. They profited by it.

However, politics is a technique that is practiced without too much sentimentality anywhere. The objective of the politician is to keep himself in office and in power and a dead man is only useful to him if his ghost can help keep him in office and in power.

Stalin built the largest and most compact empire in history. He brought to Russia great power and enormous wealth. He did it by a brutality hardly equalled in history. His successors have to produce something to equal the achievements of Stalin. One of the ways for them to succeed is to discredit Stalin and his accomplishments. "Do you think that Stalin did so much at Yalta?" they can ask. "Look what we did at Geneva! Stalin made all the world suspicious of Russia, but we are winning victories without suspicion."

Another factor in this situation is that no great revolutionary leaders exist in Russia today because Stalin killed them. The present collective leadership is post-revolutionary as most of the people in Russia are post-revolutionary. If a man is 50 years old today, he was 11 years old in 1917; a man of 20 was born altogether outside the period of revolution and during the time when Stalin was already in control. There is little memory among the people of Trotsky, Bukharin, Zinoviev or Kameny; Lenin is recalled as a distant god whose writings must be read to gain any advancement in the communist hierarchy. The people to whom Stalin addressed himself in the 1920's were very different from those to whom Khrushchev addresses himself to-

The new Russia is being designed by Khrushchev who has to destroy Stalin's Russia and Stalin's Soviet Universal State before he can make his plans work. Stalin apparently preferred to be feared; Khrushchev, Bulganin, Malenkov and the others of this generation prefer to be popular. They travel abroad and dress in native costume wherever they happen to be. Malenkov grins in London like a cartoon of a cockney character I once saw in a Charles Laughton picture. Maybe he saw that picture, too. Stalin did not find it necessary to do any grinning; he was obviously willing to be hated by those who were not his slaves. Stalinism prevailed among a people accustomed to a Czar. It is unbelievable that there is not a Stalinist faction in the presidium. Khrushchev may have to exile or kill

By George Sokolsky

its members before he can totally obliterate Stalinism.

In places like Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and China, must come as a shock to the communists who have been drilled to accept Stalinism as part of the socialist canon. In Italy and the United States, this new development is particularly damaging.

The American communists on orders of Stalin through Jacques Duclos humiliated and eliminated Earl Browder for taking the identical position Khrushchev took in his famous seven-hour speech, namely, that there is more than one road for the achievement of socialism. What can the American communists say to Browder now? How can they defend themselves except by insisting that Stalin was right and that Khrushchev is now wrong? This situation needs to be watched closely and understood because it may turn into a world cataclysm during the next year. (Copyright 1955, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Toys Are Big Help In Operating Room

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Cuddly teddy bears, rubber rabbits and toy telephones play important part in operating room procedures at many of the nation's hospitals. So do toy space and "jet pilot" helmets.

An increasing number of hospitals are employing these toys to administer anesthesia without fear to young surgery patients.

Strange Surroundings

It's perfectly natural for a youngster to be frightened by the strange surroundings of an operating room. The white-gowned figures are scary enough, but add a confining anesthetic mask or cone and you've really got a frightened patient.

In the past, only too often, coaxing or outright threats have been used to get children to cooperate.

Now, however, physicians have devised toy telephones which exude nitrous oxide and "Sleepy Rabbits" which easily enable a child to be whisked into blissful unconsciousness by cyclopropane.

Plastic Helmets

The teddy bears and plastic helmets also permit easy administration of anesthesia.

A recent article in Medical News tells of the success two Salt Lake City surgeons had with the rubber "Sleepy Rabbit."

Drs. Thomas Ray Broadbent and Jack Stringham of Latterday Saints Hospital first recommend that the steps leading to unconsciousness be explained to the child in simple terms.

Then, the young patient is permitted to hold the teddy bear or phone, look at the closely held rubber rabbit or don the space helmet while the anesthetic flows through the toy into the child's face.

Some children, of course, won't hold still for the toys, either. In such cases, the doctors advise, the anesthetic tube is removed from the toy and this alone is used without any kind of a mask.

So, you see toys in the operating room may be almost as important as a scalpel.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department armed with a new weapon just handed it by the Supreme Court, will now go ahead with the job of trying to make reluctant witnesses unravel some Red conspiracy in the United States.

The court Monday upheld the immunity law passed in 1954 by Congress to make unwilling witnesses—Communists or non-Communists—testify in court cases involving national security. Spying, for instance.

This law says that if a witness before a federal grand jury or congressional committee investigating a case involving national security refuses to testify—on the grounds he might incriminate himself—then:

But the court limited itself to saying this law could be used by the Justice Department in making grand jury investigations. It did not—and specifically said it did not—say it was all right for congressional committees to use it. The court may rule later in the committees' favor.

Grand juries and congressional committees have been hampered in their inquiries into communism by witnesses' use of the Fifth

Amendment, which says a man cannot be forced to testify to anything which might incriminate him.

Once a man claims up behind this amendment neither a jury nor a committee can tell whether he really has anything to fear or is just refusing to talk to protect friends or acquaintances.

Yet, the amendment is intended to protect only the witness himself from saying anything which might lead to his own prosecution.

Congress two years ago passed the immunity law, which applies only when a witness in a national security case invokes the Fifth Amendment before a grand jury or congressional committee. This can be done: the Justice Department or the committee can ask a federal judge to promise the witness he will not be prosecuted for anything he says, even though he involves himself in a crime in the security case in question by his testimony.

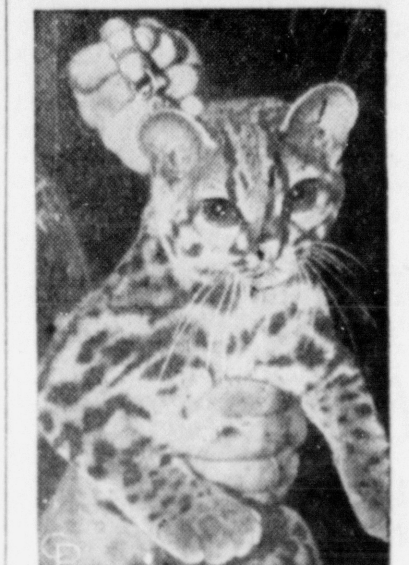

This wipes out any need for the Fifth Amendment in his case. The promise of immunity takes the place of the Fifth Amendment in protecting him from prosecution.

Having been offered immunity in exchange for his testimony, if he still won't talk he can be cited for contempt and jailed. This is what happened when a federal grand jury, making the first use of the 1954 law, questioned William

Ludwig Ullmann about a wartime Washington spy ring.

He invoked the Fifth Amendment, was granted immunity, refused to talk, was sentenced to six months in jail, and appealed all the way up to the Supreme Court.

Now, with the court upholding the law, a Justice department spokesman said it will go ahead with its investigations.

Mrs. Forsythe highly commended the Martha Washington Committee members in their projects which are the maintenance of the toy cart at Memorial Hospital, the work of restoring the old cemetery and also for the sponsorship and splendid work they are doing in the organization of the Chapter, children of the American Revolution, which now has a large membership under the leadership of Mrs. Richard P. Rankin.

At the close of Mrs. Forsythe's talk the program chairman, Mrs. M. Grove Davis, presented Mr. and Mrs. John Leland, who showed interesting colored slides taken on their many trips to Williamsburg, the re-constructed city, and also picturesque Mt. ## Honors Given To 4-H Workers

Two outstanding 4-H Junior Leaders and nine long-term 4-H advisors from Fayette County were among hundreds of 4-H workers throughout Ohio honored during Farm and Home Week at Ohio State University.

Gene Gustin and Marilyn Heistand were the two Junior Leadership Club members from here included in a group of nearly 150 youngsters from 88 counties who received the Junior Leader Honor Award.

Four persons from here attended the recognition ceremonies for 4-H advisors who have put in five, ten, 15, 20, 25 or 30 years of service.

Those attending were Miss Louise Ritter and Lowell Woods, who have ten years of service as 4-H advisors and Mrs. Thomas Christoffer and Mrs. Bert Fenner, who have each been advising five years.

Unable to attend the ceremonies but eligible for honors, pins and certificates were Barton Montgomery, an advisor for ten years and Mrs. H. W. Walls, Mrs. Ralph Davidson, Robert Agle and Sam Marting, all with five years service.

THE AWARD FOR the junior leaders was given after a full day's program. The honors for the advisors were given at a luncheon.

The program for the Junior Leaders included an initiation ceremony written and directed by Miss Eva Kinsey, assistant state 4-H club leader. Following a luncheon at the Ohio Union cafeteria, the group met to hear Dr. Frank Slutz, Dayton educator, discuss the characteristics and attributes of a leader.

Dr. Slutz said vision, wisdom, courage, delegativeness and influence, are essential leadership characteristics.

The junior leaders discussed the role of leadership in their home communities.

The day's activities were concluded with a banquet in the ballroom of the Ohio Union with several of the state 4-H club staff present, including Director of Extension W. B. Wood.

The award program started in 1932 and all former winners were invited to attend the annual banquet. Karma Kay Knox a 1955 Fayette County winner, was present among the 217 junior leaders attending.

Most Of Estate Left To Church By Miss Gardner

The will of Miss Edith H. Gardner, which disposes of an estate valued at approximately $70,000, has been probated and W. S. Paxson and Miss Dorothy A. Rogers, of Wilmington are made executors of the estate.

Most of her property had been given to the trustees of the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church under agreement of Dec. 12, 1947 to be known as the Gardner Memorial and used for a home for retired Methodist ministers, their wives and widows.

This includes the Gardner home, several residence properties and a total of some 17 acres surrounding the home on Circle Avenue, as well as a farm of more than 200 acres on the Robinson Road.

To Grace Methodist Church trustees she left $5,000 as a memorial to her parents, Hon. and Mrs. Mills Gardner, the money to be invested in sound securities and income used for benefit of the church.

To Miss Rogers, she gave $1,000 in money certain Chinaware and silver.

The sum of $500 was left to Haines V. Reichel and $500 to his mother, Mrs. Mary Reichel.

To Stella A. Rogers (now deceased) hand painted china and any other china she desired except rosebud Haviland china. Two needlepoint chairs were left to Amanda Paxson.

Certain coin silver spoons were first given to the Campus Mar-

tius Museum at Marietta, but a codicil revokes the gift and the spoons were given to the Fayette County Historical Society.

Miss Gardner also had given dozens of other family heirlooms to the Fayette County Historical Society, in a written agreement made after the will was drawn.

The will was witnessed by Rev. Allan W. Caley, former Grace Church pastor, and Paxson.

Plans Taking Form For Easter Service

Plans for the 23rd annual Easter sunrise service at the First Presbyterian Church here today were beginning to take on definite form.

Held under the sponsorship of the Leadership Training Class, the service is to open at 7 o'clock Easter morning in the church sanctuary.

A former pastor, Rev. John K. Abernethy, is coming here from his home in Indianapolis to deliver the Easter message. Rev. Abernethy went from here to the pastorate of the Presbyterian Church in Coshocton but later was advanced to the position of associate secretary of the Division of Evangelistic Missions of the Presbyterians of America.

As a part of this sunrise service, a poem, "Easter Dawn," written by Mrs. Howard Perrill, is to be recited and a solo is to be sung by Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee.

Mrs. Walter Coll, in charge of arrangements for the service, said "if the public is cordially invited to attend the services of our church."

The purpose is to "stimulate interest in education in the fields of science and engineering," according to E. N. Reed, industrial engineer at the Armco plant here.

U. S. Industry Not Standing Still At All

Progress By Russians Startling. But Yank Ability Great, Too

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The growing industrial and military strength of Soviet Russia sends shivers down some American spines. But American industry hasn't been exactly standing still either.

And it's newly announced expansion program — while aimed primarily at production of still more civilian goods — isn't without its defense potentialities.

One of the great victories of last war was won in the factories of the United States, as Francis Walton points out today in his book, Miracle of World War II, published by the MacMillan Co. The story of their conversion from peacetime to wartime output, despite many shafus, should buck up many of today's faint hearts.

But many of the peaks of production so miraculously achieved some 10 or more years ago could be dwarfed today if the new industrial capacity of the United States need once more be turned in that direction.

This new production potential—except for the spurt of the Korean War period — was accomplished by American industry working on its own, motivated as much, or more, by the civilian demands of a growing and prospering population as by the defense goals of the government.

Take steel. The first year the United States was in the war, 1942, Walton says nearly 77 million tons of steel of different kinds was produced. By 1944 the industry had raised production to 90 million tons and brought capacity up to 94 million. Walton's story stops with VJ day.

But in peacetime 1955 the industry turned out 117 million tons and now the capacity stands at 128,363,090 tons a year. Since the end of the war the industry has added around 40 per cent to its potential for output.

Crude oil is another defense essential. In 1940, when Europe was at war but the United States wasn't, American oil companies produced 1,353,214,000 barrels of oil. As the war ended in 1945 they were turned out 1,713,655,000. But last year, with civilian demand the major item, the industry produced 2,149,300,000.

American factories have mushroomed, too. In the 35 years before World War II, Walton says, plant buildings for American manufacturing had totalled 45 billion dollars, and he adds: "The cost of the plants erected in the war years alone was 30 billion dollars."

This isn't to minimize the great role American industry played in the war years. Starting in some cases almost from scratch, American factories, shipyards, mines, mills turned out 5,600 merchant vessels, 79,125 landing craft, 300,000 warplanes, 2,400,000 military trucks, 126,839 guns carriages and armored cars.

Walton notes: "The performance of industrial America increased by the millions the manpower potential of the nations with which she was joined in common cause."

And he cites as heroes and heroines those on the assembly lines and also those in management who produced seeming miracles.

VIC Region Conference Is at High School Here

Nearly 100 boys, plus half a dozen girls, from the southern part of the state gathered at Washington C. H. High School Saturday for the first Regional Conference of Southern Ohio Vocational Industrial Clubs.

These are the high school students taking courses in a variety of crafts. In the Washington C. H. High School most of the VIC members are in the auto mechanics course. The girls at the conference were from trade Cincinnati and are taking courses in crafts or trades more commonly associated with women workers.

Most of the details were handled by Paul E. Pritchard, who heads the Washington C. H. High School Vocational Industrial Department, and members of the VIC here.

After registration, which started at 10 A. M., was completed the conference got under way at 10:30 with Don Lape, of Lancaster, vice president of the region, presiding. John Trace, principal of WHS, extended the official welcome to the visiting delegates.

Ray Brandenburg, an automobile dealer, former member of the Washington C. H. School Board and aspirant to the state Senate, was the principal speaker of the morning session.

Brandenburg emphasized the importance of learning a trade and urged the students to go to their parents and friends to "get some good advice" in charting their courses for the future. He also advised them not to take their troubles home with them. In this connection, he quoted statistics about ulcers and headache pills taken by people who can't leave their troubles behind when they go home.

A DEMONSTRATION of how not to apply for a job was given by the club from Sycamore High School and the Lancaster club gave a demonstration of procedure. There also was an extemporaneous speaking program by representatives of many of the clubs there.

At noon, the group went to Grace Methodist Church for lunch. The afternoon session was opened by a talk by P. R. Anderson, the district supervisor of Trade & Industrial Education in the state.

Then turning to the lighter side, a variety show was put on by groups from several of the clubs.

Following the theory that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," the conference would up in the high school gymnasium where there were basketball games, one of which brought together the Cincinnati Central VIC girls team and the all-star VIC boys team.

Trophies brought a laugh — they were made (and they looked like the real thing) from tin cans.

The program was arranged by H. D. Crabtree, southern Ohio advisory committee representative, and Don Lape, the district vice president.

U. S. Given Nod To Sue Louisiana

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has given the United States permission to file suit against Louisiana to determine ownership of a large area of oil-rich submerged lands in the Gulf of Mexico.

The United States contends Louisiana's boundary extends only three miles from its shore line. The Justice Department says the state claims nine miles "from a very extended line claimed to be the outer limit of inland waters."

Napoleon Youth Killed By Auto

NAPOLEON (AP)—Leslie J. Goode Jr., 18, of Napoleon was killed yesterday when his car fell on top of him.

The sheriff's office said the youth had raised the front end of the car with a chain hoist attached to the bumper and was sitting beneath the vehicle when the bumper broke.

Cincy Woman Shot While At Job In Store

CINCINNATI (AP)—Goldie Byrd, 28, is in critical condition after being shot three times at short range in crowded Rollman's Department Store where she works.

The shooting Monday panicked some shoppers who bolted for the store doors.

Mrs. Byrd's estranged husband, Benny, also 28, was captured by an off-duty policeman immediately after the shooting. Police said Byrd admitted shooting his wife.

No charges were filed immediately.

The husky, out-of-work truck driver said his wife "was a good woman, the only woman I've ever loved." He told the Enquirer reporter:

"I called Goldie last Friday but she wouldn't talk to me. Sunday night I bought a gun from a friend at a Newport Ky. boat club. This (Monday) afternoon I obtained bullets."

"I hired a cab from Newport and rode to Rollman's. I instructed the driver to wait. When I went into the store I saw Goldie talking."

"I walked over, pulled the gun from my jacket and said to her 'I thought I told you I was going to kill you'—then began firing."

Off-duty Police Sgt. Joseph Schwartz was standing about 20 feet away. He lunged at Byrd and after subduing him held him for the arrival of other officers.

Byrd said his troubles with his wife were caused because "I drink to excess."

High winds near the Adriatic sea sometimes blow railroad trains from their tracks.

New Zealand's Top Trotter On Way To Test U.S. Stars

COLUMBUS—Vodka, New Zealand's fastest trotter, is on his way to this country for a shot at America's top trotting stars. It marks the first instance of a harness horse from either New Zealand or Australia being shipped to America for racing purposes.

In company with his owner-trainer-driver, Jack Shaw, Vodka left New Zealand Feb. 29 aboard the freighter Wendover. The Wendover is scheduled to arrive in Philadelphia about April 1 and Vodka will be unloaded there and vanned to Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, N. Y.

Shaw anticipates that it will require an additional six weeks to bring his 9-year-old gelding back to racing form. After that he plans to enter him at Roosevelt, where the season opens April 1, and later hopes to visit other tracks throughout the country.

Because the seasons are transposed "down under," Vodka will be coming off a successful campaign when he arrives here. His last New Zealand appearance was at Christchurch on Feb. 11 where he won the Holmes Handicap in 3:27 for the mile and five furlongs. The gelding trotted his first half-mile over the three-quarter mile track in 58.2 seconds, a fraction only rarely bettered by American trotters.

Vodka, a converted pacer, will have to readjust his style completely when he begins racing here. In New Zealand all racing is of the handicap variety with the better horses starting far behind the poorer ones in the same race. In the Holmes handicap, for instance, Vodka started 102 yards behind the scratch horse and still won handily.

New Zealand starts are made from a standing position and thus Vodka will be seeing a starting gate for the first time when he races in this country. As soon as he grows accustomed to the gate, however, he should be able to better his New Zealand times.

Vodka will also find that the races are shorter in this country than he is accustomed to. Almost all American events are at a mile which he is accustomed to racing from a mile and a half to two miles. Similarly he will have to get used to the American sulky which is shorter and wider than the New Zealand vehicle, and to American half-mile tracks. He has been racing over six-furlong ovals.

Shaw, one of New Zealand's leading trainers of both harness horses and thoroughbreds, made his decision to ship Vodka to this country as the result of an American tour he made two years ago.

"I am of the opinion," the veteran trainer-driver said then, "that one of our leading trotters or pacers could do very well in America. I hope to be able to return with one in a year or two and prove my point."

Vodka is by the New Zealand sire Logan Derby and from the mare Belle Logan by Logan Point. There is some American blood in his pedigree but for the most part he is strictly "home bred."

Vodka has never ached at a mile and his best official time is 3:26 for a mile and five furlongs, an Australasian record. There is no comparable mark in the American record book. Vodka has also been times at 4:16 for two miles, 3:13.4 for a mile and a half and 2:41.3 for a mile and a quarter. Those records are not as fast as American standards, but all were made from a standing start, a factor which handicaps a horse considerably.

In addition to training both trotters and runners, Shaw has also acted as a steward for the New Zealand Trotting Conference for a period of nine years.

Although there has never been any exchange of race horses between American and the "down under" countries, breeding stock from the United States has been exported in fairly large numbers to both New Zealand and Australia. A few New Zealand mares have been imported into this country in the last two years.

Your School Report Card

By W. A. SMITH
(City School Superintendent)

In agreeing to purchase the site on Elm and Willard Streets from the Ohio Water Service Company, the City Board of Education has taken a big step forward in the eventual solution of the school building program in Washington C. H.

The agreement, subject to the will of the people, will provide adequate space for any type of building program the Board decides upon. With this forward looking step, the needs for years to come should be solved, insofar as space is concerned.

The Ohio Water Service Co. should be commended, too, for its interest in the civic improvement of the community. Although the Company would have numerous opportunities to dispose of this site at a much higher figure, the Company felt that the best use for the land would be as a school center, and felt that it was its civic duty to make it available to the Board, rather than to someone who might buy it for speculation.

With the cooperation of all groups in the community, the Board is now in a position to lay the plans for the adequate housing of the pupils.

About 60 percent of Americans are home owners compared to 40 percent 15 years ago.

"IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD."

Charlie Dressen's Crewmen Face Fight For Last Place

ORLANDO — Charlie Dressen's recent announcement that he intends to remove himself from the coaching lines this year was construed by some as an indication that the Washington Senators manager does not expect any of his hirelings to reach base.

That is not true. It means that Dressen believes he has a better chance to make the Senators resemble a major league team by masterminding from the bench. Whether Charlie directs from the coaching lines or from the bench, it still is a tremendous undertaking.

The Senators figure to battle the Baltimore Orioles for last place, if for no other reason than they're composed mainly of players who haven't made good anywhere else. Except for Roy Sievers, Eddie Yost, Pete Runnels and Clint Courtney there isn't an established major leaguer on the roster.

The present pitching staff won a total of only 25 major league games last year. The big winner was Dean Stone, and he won only six games.

The offensive picture is no brighter. The current team hit a combined total of 59 home runs in the majors last season. Of this number, Sievers collected 25. The only 300 hitter is Courtney, who batted .309 in 94 games.

Dressen, normally a voluble optimist, isn't saying much. He realizes if the Senators are going to climb out of the American League basement, they must get major league performances out of players who have little or no big league experience.

"It's an all-out gamble on youth," is the way Dressen explained it. "I know we've been criticized in some quarters for trading off such established players as Mickey Vernon, Bob Porterfield and Maury McDermott for kids with little or no experience. You must realize, however, that we finished last with those fellows. We can't possibly do worse with the youngsters and we might do better."

The infield is Washington's strongest department. Sievers, who slammed 25 homers and drove in 106 runs on his .274 batting average in the outfield last year, is a fixture at first base. So is Yost at third, now in his tenth year as a regular.

Bespectacled Herb Plews, ex-Yankee chattel from Denver, where he batted .302 has shown enough to push Runnels, last year's regular second baseman, to the outfield. Jose Valdivielso is regarded by Dressen as the finest defensive shortstop in the American League despite his .221 batting average of last year.

The outfield remains a scramble. Tentatively, Kark Olson, the big fellow from Boston, has been fixed in center field. Dick Tetlebach, who batted .309 and drove in 95 runs with the Yankees' Denver club, has the edge in right

Fairground Involved In Settlement Suit

Clarence E. Wohlhuter of Columbus, in a suit filed in common pleas court here makes Earl Leroy Scott, Edith Scott, Esther Scott Crone, Harry Crone, Paul C. Anderson and Elton H. Anderson defendants, and asks that one-third interest he claims in the tract occupied by the Anderson Drive-In, formerly part of the Fayette County Fairgrounds, be set off to him, and an accounting be made by Earl Leroy Scott and Esther Scott Crone.

Wohlhuter, who is represented by Griffith and Griffith of Columbus, claims the interest under a Common Pleas Court decree here July 9, 1917, by reason of his wife having been given one-third interest in the property. She has since died.

Wohlhuter cites a decision of the Court of Appeals of Nov. 21, 1955, as supporting his claim and demands sale of the property, or equal division of it, and his part of the income, which he claims is due him and of which he states that no accounting has been made.

The two Andersons name defendants are asked to set up any interests they have in the property because of lease, etc.

Liability Insurance For Cars Is Urged

Reed Winegardner, Washington C. H. attorney and unopposed candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator from this, the fifth-sixth, district, said that if he is elected this year, he will sponsor a bill to compel Ohio's 4,000,000-plus car and truck owners to carry automobile liability insurance.

He said no automobile should be operated in the state without insurance coverage of at least $10,000 for a.. accident involving one person and $20,000 for more than one and for $5,000 property damage. Winegardner bases his stand on personal experience; he and Mrs. Winegardner were hospitalized and their car wrecked in a crash involving an uninsured car.

He estimated that at least 500,000 car owners are now operating their autos without insurance.

U. S. Industry Not Standing Still At All

Progress By Russians Startling, But Yank Ability Great, Too

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — The growing industrial and military strength of Soviet Russia sends shivers down some American spines. But American industry hasn't been exactly standing still either.

And it's newly announced expansion program — while aimed primarily at production of still more civilian goods — isn't without its defense potentialities.

One of the great victories of last war was won in the factories of the United States, as Francis Walton points out today in his book, Miracle of World War II, published by the MacMillan Co.

The story of their conversion from peacetime to wartime output, despite many shafus, should buck up many of today's faint hearts.

But many of the peaks of production so miraculously achieved some 10 or more years ago could be dwarfed today if the new industrial capacity of the United States need once more be turned in that direction.

This new production potential—except for the spurt of the Korean War period — was accomplished by American industry working on its own, motivated as much, or more, by the civilian demands of a growing and prospering population as by the defense goals of the government.

Take steel. The first year the United States was in the war, 1942, Walton says nearly 77 million tons of steel of different kinds was produced. By 1944 the industry had raised production to 90 million tons and brought capacity up to 94 million. Walton's story stops with VJ day.

But in peacetime 1955 the industry turned out 117 million tons and now the capacity stands at 128,363,090 tons a year. Since the end of the war the industry has added around 40 per cent to its potential for output.

Crude oil is another defense essential. In 1940, when Europe was at war but the United States wasn't, American oil companies produced 1,353,214,000 barrels of oil. As the war ended in 1945 they were turned out 1,713,655,000. But last year, with civilian demand the major item, the industry produced 2,149,300,000.

American factories have mushroomed, too. In the 35 years before World War II, Walton says, plant buildings for American manufacturing had totalled 45 billion dollars, and he adds: "The cost of the plants erected in the war years alone was 30 billion dollars."

This isn't to minimize the great role American industry played in the war years. Starting in some cases almost from scratch, American factories, shipyards, mines, mills turned out 5,600 merchant vessels, 79,125 landing craft, 300,000 warplanes, 2,400,000 military trucks, 126,839 guns, armaments and armored cars.

Walton notes: "The performance of industrial America increased by the millions the manpower potential of the nations with which she was joined in common cause."

And he cites as heroes and heroines those on the assembly lines and also those in management who produced seeming miracles.

VIC Region Conference Is at High School Here

Nearly 100 boys, plus half a dozen girls, from the southern part of the state gathered at Washington C. H. High School Saturday for the first Regional Conference of Southern Ohio Vocational Industrial Clubs.

These are the high school students taking courses in a variety of crafts. In the Washington C. H. High School most of the VIC members are in the auto mechanics course. The girls at the conference were from trade Cincinnati and are taking courses in crafts or trades more commonly associated with women workers.

Most of the details were handled by Paul E. Pritchard, who heads the Washington C. H. High School Vocational Industrial Department, and members of the VIC here.

After registration, which started at 10 A. M., was completed the conference got under way at 10:30 with Don Lape, of Lancaster, vice president of the region, presiding. John Trace, principal of WHS, extended the official welcome to the visiting delegates.

Ray Brandenburg, an automobile dealer, former member of the Washington C. H. School Board and aspirant to the state Senate, was the principal speaker of the morning session.

Brandenburg emphasized the importance of learning a trade and urged the students to go to their parents and friends to "get some good advice" in charting their

U. S. Given Nod To Sue Louisiana

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has given the United States permission to file suit against Louisiana to determine ownership of a large area of oil-rich submerged lands in the Gulf of Mexico.

The United States contends Louisiana's boundary extends only three miles from its shore line. The Justice Department says the state claims nine miles "from a very extended line claimed to be the outer limit of inland waters."

Napoleon Youth Killed By Auto

NAPOLÉON (AP) — Leslie J. Goode Jr., 18, of Napoleon was killed yesterday when his car fell on top of him.

The sheriff's office said the youth had raised the front end of the car with a chain hoist attached to the bumper and was sitting beneath the vehicle when the bumper broke.

Cincy Woman Shot While At Job In Store

CINCINNATI (AP) — Goldie Byrd, 28, is in critical condition after being shot three times at short range in crowded Rollman's Department Store where she works.

The shooting Monday panicked some shoppers who bolted for the store doors.

Mrs. Byrd's estranged husband, Benny, also 28, was captured by an off-duty policeman immediately after the shooting. Police said Byrd admitted shooting his wife.

Byrd told a Cincinnati Enquirer reporter he was "sorry the moment it happened, but I couldn't undo it."

No charges were filed immediately.

The husky, out-of-work truck driver said his wife "was a good woman, the only woman I've ever loved." He told the Enquirer reporter:

"I called Goldie last Friday but she wouldn't talk to me. Sunday night I bought a gun from a friend at a Newport Ky. boat club. This (Monday) afternoon I obtained bullets.

"I hired a cab from Newport and rode to Rollman's. I instructed the driver to wait. When I went into the store I saw Goldie talking.

"I walked over, pulled the gun from my jacket and said to her 'I thought I told you I was going to kill you'—then began firing."

Off-duty Police Sgt. Joseph Schwartz was standing about 20 feet away. He lunged at Byrd and after disarming him held him for the arrival of other officers.

Byrd said his troubles with his

Baltimore Boss Feels Club To Be Improved Over 1955

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (P)—Paul Richards, the boss and brains of the Baltimore ball club, believes the team will be somewhat improved this year over 1955, and well it may be.

No one in the camp, however, expects any miracles, and one of the Baltimore baseball writers, Neal Eskridge, may have pegged the situation correctly when he observed, with a melancholy sigh: "Washington is about the only club we'll finish ahead of, I'm afraid."

Training Camp News Briefs

MESA, Ariz. (P)—Manager Stan Hack of the Chicago Cubs is having infield troubles, the kind most managers enjoy.

Hack benched shortstop Ernie Banks and second baseman Gene Baker Monday to get a good look at Ed Winceniak and Ritchie Myers at short and second, respectively.

"I've got to see more of Myers and Winceniak," said Hack, "so I can make up my mind which one to keep."

The Cubs beat Cleveland, 9-5, Monday with Myers slamming a homer and single and Winceniak getting a double and triple.

TAMPA, Fla. (P)—Frank Lane, former Chicago White Sox general manager now serving in the same capacity with the St. Louis Cardinals, might be right again.

Lane told Manager Marty Marion of the White Sox early this season "Sammy Esposito will be your third baseman before the season is over."

Esposito, playing like a veteran, bashed out two more hits Monday and gives every indication that he might move George Kell out of the hot corner.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (P)—Manager Charlie Grimm of the Milwaukee Braves says that moving Henry Aaron from the outfield would be a poor solution to the Braves' problem at second base.

"Henry doesn't like to play second," he claims it interferes with his hitting," Grimm said Monday, "and I am afraid he might be spiked."

The Braves, whipped 16-9 by the Pittsburgh Pirates Monday at Fort Myers, came here today to meet the St. Louis Cardinals.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (P)—Brooks (The Bull) Lawrence, the big righthander traded to Cincinnati, has come back to haunt the St. Louis Cardinals.

Lawrence went all the way for a 3-1 victory Monday which ended a six-game winning streak for the Cardinals. He allowed 10 hits but five were infield dribblers. Eleven Cardinals were left stranded.

TUCSON, Ariz. (P)—Herb Score of the Cleveland Indians will be the best pitcher in baseball within two years, Manager Al Lopez predicts.

He also forecast a 20-game season for the 22-year-old left hander who compiled a 16-10 record in 1955.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (P)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs says rookie Frank Robinson has much to learn, but can develop "into another Wally Post for us."

"I expect Robinson to have a tough time at first," Tebbetts said. "He's young and inexperienced. If he hits about 260 this season and hits me around 15 homers, he'll be doing just what I expect of him."

Robinson stepped across the plate with the first score of Monday's 3-1 Redleg victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, coming in from third on a solid hit to center by Smoky Burgess.

LAKELAND, Fla. (P)—Al Kaline, the American League's batting champion, took batting practice with the Detroit Tigers for the first time in nearly a week Monday.

But the young rightfielder made no attempt to throw. That, said Tiger trainer Jack Homel, won't come until Wednesday.

Kaline has been bothered with a sore arm during spring training and has been resting on Homel's orders.

Rookie infielder Rance Pless of the Athletics won the Southern Assn. batting championship in 1952 and the American Assn. title in 1955.

OHIO OUTDOORS

While most everyone is acquainted with the "ten commandments" of hunting and safety, a new "ten commandments" of fishing is gaining fame and comes from Lorraine Bassford of the Palacios (Texas) Beacon.

(1) Thou shalt not let thy zeal for a fishing trip awaken thy household at 3 o'clock in the morning to prepare thyself. If thee must arise so early, moveth quietly.

(2) Keepeth thy fishing equipment in good condition.

(3) Thou shalt not request the lady of thy heart to prepare ambrosia or a hearty breakfast for thee. Prepare it thyself, or stepeth at an all-night cafe.

(4) Thou shalt not utter profane words if thee discovereth an airless tire on thy means of transportation. Be thy own man Friday, and repair it thyself.

(5) Driveth not like a demon to a bait camp, or to the fishing spot of thy choice.

(6) Shouldst thou entereth other's property, remembereth that it is their kindness that permitteeth thee to do so. Leave not an untidy spot, and closeth all gates.

(7) Casteth thy line into the water. The hook on thy line is to hooketh fish, not the ear, arm or garments of those nearest thee.

(8) Useth thy good judgment if thou seest foul weather coming.

(9) Thou shalt speaketh the truth when the day of fishing is over.

(10) If these commandments thou obey, thou shalt have a pleasant day.

New Zealand's Top Trotter On Way To Test U.S. Stars

COLUMBUS—Vodka, New Zealand's fastest trotter, is on his way to this country for a shot at America's top trotting stars. It marks the first instance of a harness horse from either New Zealand or Australia being shipped to America for racing purposes.

In company with his owner-trainer-driver, Jack Shaw, Vodka left New Zealand Feb. 29 aboard the freighter Wendover. The Wendover is scheduled to arrive in Philadelphia about April 1 and Vodka will be unloaded there and vanned to Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, N. Y.

Shaw anticipates that it will require an additional six weeks to bring his 9-year-old gelding back to racing form. After that he plans to enter him at Roosevelt, where the season opens April 1, and later hopes to visit other tracks throughout the country.

Because the seasons are transposed "down under," Vodka will be coming off a successful campaign when he arrives here. His last New Zealand appearance was at Christchurch on Feb. 11 where he won the Holmes Handicap in 3:27 for the mile and five furlongs. The gelding trotted his first half-mile over the three-quarter mile track in 58.2 seconds, a fraction only rarely bettered by American trotters.

Vodka, a converted pacer, will have to readjust his style completely when he begins racing here. In New Zealand all racing is of the handicap variety with the better horses starting far behind the poorer ones in the same race. In the Holmes handicap, for instance, Vodka started 102 yards behind the scratch horse and still won handily.

New Zealand stars are made from a standing position and thus Vodka will be seeing a starting gate for the first time when he races in this country. As soon as he grows accustomed to the gate, however, he should be able to better his New Zealand times.

Vodka will also find that the races are shorter in this country than he is accustomed to. Almost all American events are at a mile which he is accustomed to racing from a mile and a half to two miles. Similarly he will have to get used to the American sulky which is shorter and wider than the New Zealand vehicle, and to American half-mile tracks. He has been racing over six-furlong ovals.

Shaw, one of New Zealand's leading trainers of both harness horses and thoroughbreds, made his decision to ship Vodka to this country as the result of an American tour he made two years ago. "I am of the opinion," the veteran trainer-driver said then, "that

Vodka is by the New Zealand sire Logan Derby and from the mare Belle Logan by Logan Pointer. There is some American blood in his pedigree but for the most part he is strictly "home bred."

Vodka has never raced at a mile and his best official time is 3:26 for a mile and five furlongs, an Australasian record. There is no comparable mark in the American record book. Vodka has also been times at 4:16 for two miles, 3:13.4 for a mile and a half and 2:41.3 for a mile and a quarter. Those records are not as fast as American standards, but all were made from a standing start, a factor which handicaps a horse considerably.

In addition to training both trotters and runners, Shaw has also acted as a steward for the New Zealand Trotting Conference for a period of nine years.

Although there has never been any exchange of race horses between American and the "down under countries," breeding stock from the United States has been exported in fairly large numbers to both New Zealand and Australia. A few New Zealand mares have been imported into this country in the last two years.

Your School Report Card

By W. A. SMITH
(City School Superintendent)

In agreeing to purchase the site on Elm and Willard Streets from the Ohio Water Service Company, the City Board of Education has taken a big step forward in the eventual solution of the school building program in Washington C. H.

The agreement, subject to the will of the people, will provide adequate space for any type of building program the Board decides upon. With this forward looking step, the needs for years to come should be solved, insofar as space is concerned.

The Ohio Water Service Co. should be commended, too, for its interest in the civic improvement of the community. Although the Company would have numerous opportunities to dispose of this site at a much higher figure, the Company felt that the best use for the land would be as a school center, and felt that it was its civic duty to make it available to the Board, rather than to someone who might buy it for speculation.

With the cooperation of all groups in the community, the Board is now in a position to lay the plans for the adequate housing of the pupils.

About 60 percent of Americans are home owners compared to 40 percent 15 years ago.

Charlie Dressen's Crewmen Face Fight For Last Place

ORLANDO — Charlie Dressen's recent announcement that he intends to remove himself from the coaching lines this year was construed by some as an indication that the Washington Senators manager does not expect any of his hirelings to reach base.

That is not true. It means that Dressen believes he has a better chance to make the Senators resemble a major league team by masterminding from the bench. Whether Charlie directs from the coaching lines or from the bench, it still is a tremendous undertaking.

The Senators figure to battle the Baltimore Orioles for last place, if for no other reason than they're composed mainly of players who haven't made good anywhere else. Except for Roy Sievers, Eddie Yost, Pete Runnels and Clint Courtney there isn't an established major leaguer on the roster.

The present pitching staff won a total of only 25 major league games last year. The big winner was Dean Stone, and he won only six games.

The offensive picture is no brighter. The current team hit a combined total of 59 home runs in the majors last season. Of this number, Sievers collected 25. The only 300 hitter is Courtney, who batted .309 in 94 games.

Dressen, normally a voluble optimist, isn't saying much. He realizes if the Senators are going to climb out of the American League basement, they must get major league performances out of players who have little or no big league experience.

"It's an all-out gamble on youth," is the way Dressen explained it. "I know we've been criticized in some quarters for trading off such established players as Mickey Vernon, Bob Porterfield and Maury McDermott for kids with little or no experience. You must realize, however, that we finished last with those fellows. We can't possibly do worse with the youngsters and we might do better."

The infield is Washington's strongest department. Sievers, who slammed 25 homers and drove in 106 runs on his .274 batting average in the outfield last year, is a fixture at first base. So is Yost at third, now in his tenth year as a regular.

Bespectacled Herb Pilews, ex-Yankee chatted from Denver, where he batted .302 has shown enough to push Runnels, last year's regular second baseman, to the outfield. Jose Valdivielso is regarded by Dressen as the finest defensive shortstop in the American League despite his .221 batting average of last year.

The outfield remains a scramble. Tentatively, Kark Olson, the big fellow from Boston, has been fixed in center field. Dick Tettebach, who batted .309 and drove in 95 runs with the Yankees' Denver club, has the edge in right

Fairground Involved In Settlement Suit

Clarence E. Wohlheter of Columbus, in a suit filed in common pleas court here makes Earl Leroy Scott, Edith Scott, Esther Scott Crone, Harry Crone, Paul C. Anderson and Elton H. Anderson defendants, and asks that one-third interest he claims in the tract occupied by the Anderson Drive-In, formerly part of the Fayette County Fairgrounds, be set off to him, and an accounting be made by Earl Leroy Scott and Esther Scott Crone.

Wohlheter, who is represented by Griffith and Griffith of Columbus, claims the interest under a Common Pleas Court decree here July 9, 1917, by reason of his wife having been given one-third interest in the property. She has since died.

Wohlheter cites a decision of the Court of Appeals of Nov. 21, 1955, as supporting his claim and demands sale of the property, or equal division of it, and his part of the income, which he claims is due him and of which he states that no accounting has been made.

The two Andersons name defendants are asked to set up any interests they have in the property because of lease, etc.

Liability Insurance For Cars Is Urged

Reed Winegarden, Washington C. H. attorney and unopposed candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator from this, the fifth-sixth, district, said that if he is elected this year, he will sponsor a bill to compel Ohio's 4,000,000-plus car and truck owners to carry automobile liability insurance.

He said no automobile should be operated in the state without insurance coverage of at least $10,000 for a. accident involving one person and $20,000 for more than one and for $5,000 property damage. Winegarden bases his stand on personal experience; he and Mrs. Winegarden were hospitalized and their car wrecked in a crash involving an uninsured car. He estimated that at least 500,000 car owners are now operating their autos without insurance.

Baltimore Boss Feels Club To Be Improved Over 1955

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (P)—Paul Richards, the boss and brains of the Baltimore ball club, believes the team will be somewhat improved this year over 1955, and well it may be.

Business Increase Leads to Changes

Increasing business is in the background of a program of expansion that includes construction of a new building and a shifting of usage of two buildings in the business section of Washington C. H.

Involved are the Slagle & Kirk, Inc., an auto parts and machine shop business on Market Street, and the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., which has its office and plant fronting on Court Street.

These are two firms that are about to do a major job of shuffling usage of rooms on opposite sides of the alley between them that runs from North to Fayette Streets between Court and Market Streets. Although this will be big operation, the passers-by on the streets will see little of it.

But, much more obvious is the new building now under construction at 1222 South North Street — at the corner of North and Sixth Streets — south of Elm Street.

The new one story building is of concrete block construction, and is 82 feet wide and 14 feet deep.

IT HAS BEEN leased by the Ohio Bell Co. for use as a garage and plant headquarters. It is scheduled to be completed about April 1 and Paul Dougherty, the commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Co. here, said the company plans to occupy it soon after that.

Dougherty explained that the growth of Washington C. H., the increase in the number of telephones throughout Fayette County and its immediate environs and the increase in installation, repair and maintenance forces and their supplies has created a need for larger quarters.

The new building will house the Ohio Bell plant department offices, a supply room and provide garage space for 20 company-owned cars and trucks serving this territory, Dougherty said. The plant organization is under the supervision of Robert H. Allen.

THE INCREASE in the Slagle & Kirk auto parts and machine shop business has this firm bulging at the seams, Eddie Kirk pointed out as he unfolded plans for expansion.

For a good many years, Dougherty and Kirk pointed out, the Ohio Bell Co. has been using the area at the rear of the Slagle & Kirk building across the alley for storage and The Slagle & Kirk Co.

Auto Leaves Road And Woman Injured

She was removed to Memorial Hospital where she is scheduled to undergo surgery Wednesday. Her condition was listed Tuesday as fair.

New Policeman Is Given Appointment

Upon recommendation of Police Chief Vaiden Long, City Manager James F. Parkinson has appointed John A. Dilley, 903 East Temple Street, as a special policeman, who takes up his new duties April 1.

Dilley is a native of Fayette County and has been employed at a local service station for some time.

The job pays $277 per month for the first 90 days.

Free Books Prove To Be Expensive

Last week a group of book salesmen visited London and other parts of Madison County, taking orders for what purported to be a set of free books to those persons who would accept the books, then write a letter of recommendation for later use by the company as a "local recommendation".

Investigation, according to newspaper reports, revealed that those accepting the books were asked to subscribe to a service to "keep the books up to date" at "only five cents a day".

The five cents a day, reports state, covered a period of 10 years. Residents are urged to proceed with caution in such dealings, and to remember honest merchandise carries an honest sale price honestly displayed, it is pointed out.

Misinterpretation Clarified By Dews

Mac Dews, Jr., said that what he said about the Miami Trace school board meeting at the meeting of parents of tuition students at Washington C. H. High School Saturday night had been misinterpreted and that he had been misquoted in the Record-Herald.

He explained that he did not mean the Miami Trace school board when he said "they know definitely the city board was definitely against a unified high school for the whole of Fayette County."

What he meant was, he said, that some individual (not identified) had said "he (not they, the Miami Trace board) knew the city board was definitely against a unified high school."

He went on to say he does not know how members of the Miami Trace school board feel about a unified high school.

Dews said the rest of what he said at the Saturday night meeting had been quoted correctly.

Five Nominees For Board Being Chosen

Under a plan that was adopted by the Chamber four years ago, the entire membership picks the nominees in a primary-by-mail. On the primary ballot are the names of all but 15 member in good standing, his or her business connection and address. The members whose names are not on the ballot are the members of the board, including the five retiring directors.

The ballots are to be marked and returned, either by mail or in person, to the Chamber of Commerce office by April 13. A committee to be named by the board of directors is to tabulate the vote.

As in years past, another ballot will be mailed to the members; on this ballot will be the names of the 10 candidates nominated in the primary election.

Five of the 10 candidates are to be checked for election to the board and the ballots returned before the annual meeting at the Country Club on May 29.

The votes are to be counted before the annual meeting so the results can be announced at that time.

Mrs. Lloyd Davis, secretary in Chamber of Commerce office, said more than 25 of the primary ballots had been marked and returned in less than a week. This was taken as an indication of interest in the Chamber and interest in the election of directors.

The five directors whose terms expire this year are President Charles Reinke, Scott Harner, Eddie Kirk, Robert Terhune and Harris Willis.

Business Increase Leads to Changes

Increasing business in the background of a program of expansion that includes construction of a new building and a shifting of usage of two buildings in the business section of Washington C. H.

Involved are the Slagle & Kirk, Inc., an auto parts and machine shop business on Market Street, and the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., which has its office and plant fronting on Court Street.

These are two firms that are about to do a major job of shuffling usage of rooms on opposite sides of the alley between them that runs from North to Fayette Streets between Court and Market Streets. Although this will be a big operation, the passers-by on the streets will see little of it.

But, much more obvious is the new building now under construction at 1222 South North Street — at the corner of North and Sixth Streets — south of Elm Street.

The new one-story building is of concrete block construction, and is 82 feet wide and 14 feet deep.

IT HAS BEEN leased by the Ohio Bell Co. for use as a garage and plant headquarters. It is scheduled to be completed about April 1 and Paul Dougherty, the commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Co. here, said the company plans to occupy it soon after that.

The whole expansion program hinges on this building.

Dougherty explained that the growth of Washington C. H., the increase in the number of telephones throughout Fayette County and its immediate environs and the increase in installation, repair and maintenance forces and their supplies has created a need for larger quarters.

The new building will house the Ohio Bell plant department offices, a supply room and provide garage space for 20 company-owned cars and trucks serving this territory. Dougherty said. The plant organization is under the supervision of Robert H. Allen.

THE INCREASE in the Slagle & Kirk auto parts and machine shop business has this firm bulging at the seams, Eddie Kirk pointed out as he unfolded plans for expansion.

For a good many years, Dougherty and Kirk pointed out, the Ohio Bell Co. has been using the area at the rear of the Slagle & Kirk building across the alley for storage and The Slagle & Kirk Co.

Auto Leaves Road And Woman Injured

She was removed to Memorial Hospital where she is scheduled to undergo surgery Wednesday. Her condition was listed Tuesday as fair.

New Policeman Is Given Appointment

Upon recommendation of Police Chief Vaiden Long, City Manager James F. Parkinson has appointed John A. Dilley, 903 East Temple Street, as a special policeman, who takes up his new duties April 1. Dilley is a native of Fayette County and has been employed at a local service station for some time.

The job pays $277 per month for the first 90 days.

has been using the back part of the Ohio Bell Co. building across the alley as a warehouse for its stock of parts.

Under this arrangement each business had to cross the alley to get to its warehouse.

But, when the Ohio Bell Co. moves its warehouse to the new building at North and Sixth streets, thus vacating the area at the back of the Slagle & Kirk building, half of that area is to be used by Slagle & Kirk for warehouse and half for the machine shop, Kirk said.

He went on to explain that because of the growth of the auto parts and machine shop business, more room was needed.

The new arrangement, by which the Slagle & Kirk operations will occupy the entire building that fronts on Market Street Kirk said that by moving the shop back into half of the area vacated by the Ohio Bell along with the warehouse stocks from across the alley, approximately 800 square feet (an area 40 by 80 feet) would be added to the store in the front of the building.

Kirk commented that "we plan to have an open house when we get moved so we can show the people some of the equipment in our shop."

Car Involved In Hit-Skip Located

When Marvin Parrett of Mt. Sterling was sideswiped on the CCC Highway at a curve in the road opposite the Robert Wilson home three miles east of Washington C. H. Sunday night, the offender left the scene of the accident. Parrett's station wagon was damaged and forced into a ditch.

He also left the headlight rim of a Ford automobile, and a powder-blue paint from the offending car.

Armed with these clues, Sheriff Orland Hays and deputies started investigating. Early Tuesday morning Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Mickle located the offending car in Bloomingburg.

It was owned by Harold Temple and at the time of the accident was driven by Robert Temple, Sheriff Hays stated.

A charge of leaving the scene of an accident was to be placed against the driver, Sheriff Hays said.

Free Books Prove To Be Expensive

Last week a group of book salesmen visited London and other parts of Madison County, taking orders for what purported to be a set of free books to those persons who would accept the books, then write a letter of recommendation for later use by the company as a "local recommendation."

Investigation, according to newspaper reports, revealed that those accepting the books were asked to subscribe to a service to "keep the books up to date" at "only five cents a day."

The five cents a day, reports state, covered a period of 10 years. Residents are urged to proceed with caution in such dealings, and to remember honest merchandise carries an honest sale price honestly displayed, it is pointed out.

Misinterpretation Clarified By Dews

Mac Dews, Jr., said that what he said about the Miami Trace school board meeting at the meeting of parents of tuition students at Washington C. H. High School Saturday night had been misinterpreted and that he had been misquoted in the Record-Herald.

He explained that he did not mean the Miami Trace school board when he said "they know definitely the city board was definitely against a unified high school for the whole of Fayette County."

What he meant was, he said, that some individual (not identified) had said "he (not they, the Miami Trace board) knew the city board was definitely against a unified high school."

He went on to say he does not know how members of the Miami Trace school board feel about a unified high school.

Dews said the rest of what he said at the Saturday night meeting had been quoted correctly.

Primary Vote By C of C Is on

Five Nominees For Board Being Chosen

Members of the Chamber of Commerce today were in the process of nominating a slate of ten candidates for the five vacancies that are coming up on the board of directors.

Under a plan that was adopted by the Chamber four years ago, the entire membership picks the nominees in a primary-by-mail. On the primary ballot are the names of all but 15 member in good standing, his or her business connection and address. The members whose names are not on the ballot are the members of the board, including the five retiring directors.

The ballots are to be marked and returned, either by mail or in person, to the Chamber of Commerce office by April 13. A committee to be named by the board of directors is to tabulate the vote.

As in years past, another ballot will be mailed to the members; on this ballot will be the names of the 10 candidates nominated in the primary election.

Five of the 10 candidates are to be checked for election to the board and the ballots returned before the annual meeting at the Country Club on May 29.

The votes are to be counted before the annual meeting so the results can be announced at that time.

Mrs. Lloyd Davis, secretary in Chamber of Commerce office, said more than 25 of the primary ballots had been marked and returned in less than a week. This was taken as an indication of interest in the Chamber and interest in the election of directors.

Woods in County

is in small farm woodlots, according to "Ohio Forest Facts".

Forest fires, uncontrolled grazing and lack of good management are given as the chief reasons Ohio woodlots are not now in full productivity.

However, there is enough saw-timber standing in Ohio to build a five-room frame house for every person living in Cleveland and Cincinnati, it is pointed out.

Ohio's wood using industries use enormous amounts of timber and some of it comes from local forests but most of it is brought in from other states.

Over the past 20 years the forest area of Ohio has been increasing, and the present area in woodland exceeds by 47 percent the area determined by the U. S. Forest Service in 1939-1943. Some of the increase is due to open woodlands being included, which were formerly omitted from the category of forests.
